

5 Dead, Damage in Millions as Quake Rattles Northwest

Seattle Hardest Hit in Worst Tremors in More Than Decade

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Washington state counted five dead today and damage in the millions of dollars in the wake of the Pacific Northwest's worst earthquake in more than a decade.

In Seattle, the hardest hit area, Frank Brock, assistant superintendent of schools, said the loss to the system "should easily be in excess of $1 million."

Eight public schools were closed and two may not be back in operation for some time, he said.

Enslay Llewellyn, state civil defense director, said it was impossible to give an accurate damage estimate until reports from around the state had been compiled.

Llewellyn estimated damage to light fixtures and elevator shafts in the State Capitol building at Olympia at $200,000 and damage to a road and railroad in the area at possibly another $200,000.

Some roads heaved upward, others sagged downward; bridges swayed and some freeway ramps buckled as the tremor rolled through at 8:29 a.m. (Pacific Daylight Time) Thursday.

Raymond Haughton, 52, and Eugene Goulet, 40, were near a 14-story tower at the Fisher Flouring Mills when a 50,000-gallon wooden water tank atop the structure exploded. Torrents of water and twisted timbers cascaded down upon them. Haughton died in the debris, Goulet was injured critically.

Parapet Fell
Adolphus Lewis, 60, was hurrying in the bright sun to his usual morning breakfast of mush and tea at a restaurant near his downtown rooming house. A concrete parapet struck him down. A pile of bricks quickly covered the dead man.

Mrs. James Johnson, 56, of Seattle, died while talking on the telephone. Ethel Webb, 75, Tacoma and Zenola Lorenz, Olympia, were found dead. All were victims of heart attacks.

The earthquake knocked the needles off the University of Washington seismograph, but seismologists elsewhere said it registered 6.5 to 7 on the Richter Scale. The devastating Alaska earthquake of March 27, 1964 was rated at 8.3 on the Richter Scale. That one killed 113.

8 Killed
Just 16 years ago this month the Pacific Northwest was jolted by an earthquake that registered 7 on the scale. That tremor, on April 13, 1949, killed eight persons and did $25 million in property damage.

WASHINGTON (AP)—James E. Doyle, a Madison attorney credited with a large part in the revitalization of Wisconsin's Democratic party nearly 20 years ago, has been nominated by President Johnson as judge of the U. S. District Court in Western Wisconsin.

The appointment was announced Thursday while the 49-year old Doyle and his wife, Ruth, were en route to New York City for a reunion of the Columbia University Law School Class of 1940.

Reached in New York Thursday night, Doyle said, "I appreciate this expression of my (President Johnson's) confidence in me." Asked whether he would accept the post, Doyle said he didn't want to add to the statement. There seemed little chance he would reject the

N. Viet Nam Bases Smashed

Bombers Score Major Successes on Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jets smashed two major ammunition and supply depots in North Viet Nam today, U.S. spokesmen reported.

The aerial success came after several days of relatively fruitless attacks on North Viet Nam's highways and bridges.

One of the targets hit today was only 75 miles south of Hanoi.

Fifty-one A1 Skyraiders and A4 Skyhawks from the carriers Hancock and Midway hit the Phien Linh Dong army supply depot, 75 miles from the North Vietnamese capital, and the Phu Qui ammunition depot, 25 miles farther south.

Buildings Destroyed
The pilots reported that 15 buildings were destroyed, seven were damaged and four railroad box cars knocked out.

The American planes dropped 59 tons of bombs and hit their targets with rockets and 20mm cannon fire.

All the planes returned safely to their carriers, the spokesmen said.

A U.S. Army helicopter gunner was wounded slightly during a combat assault 25 miles south of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that the big infantry sweep through the swamps of Kien Hoa Province, in the Mekong Delta 60 miles southwest of Saigon, had turned up a large Viet Cong arms cache.

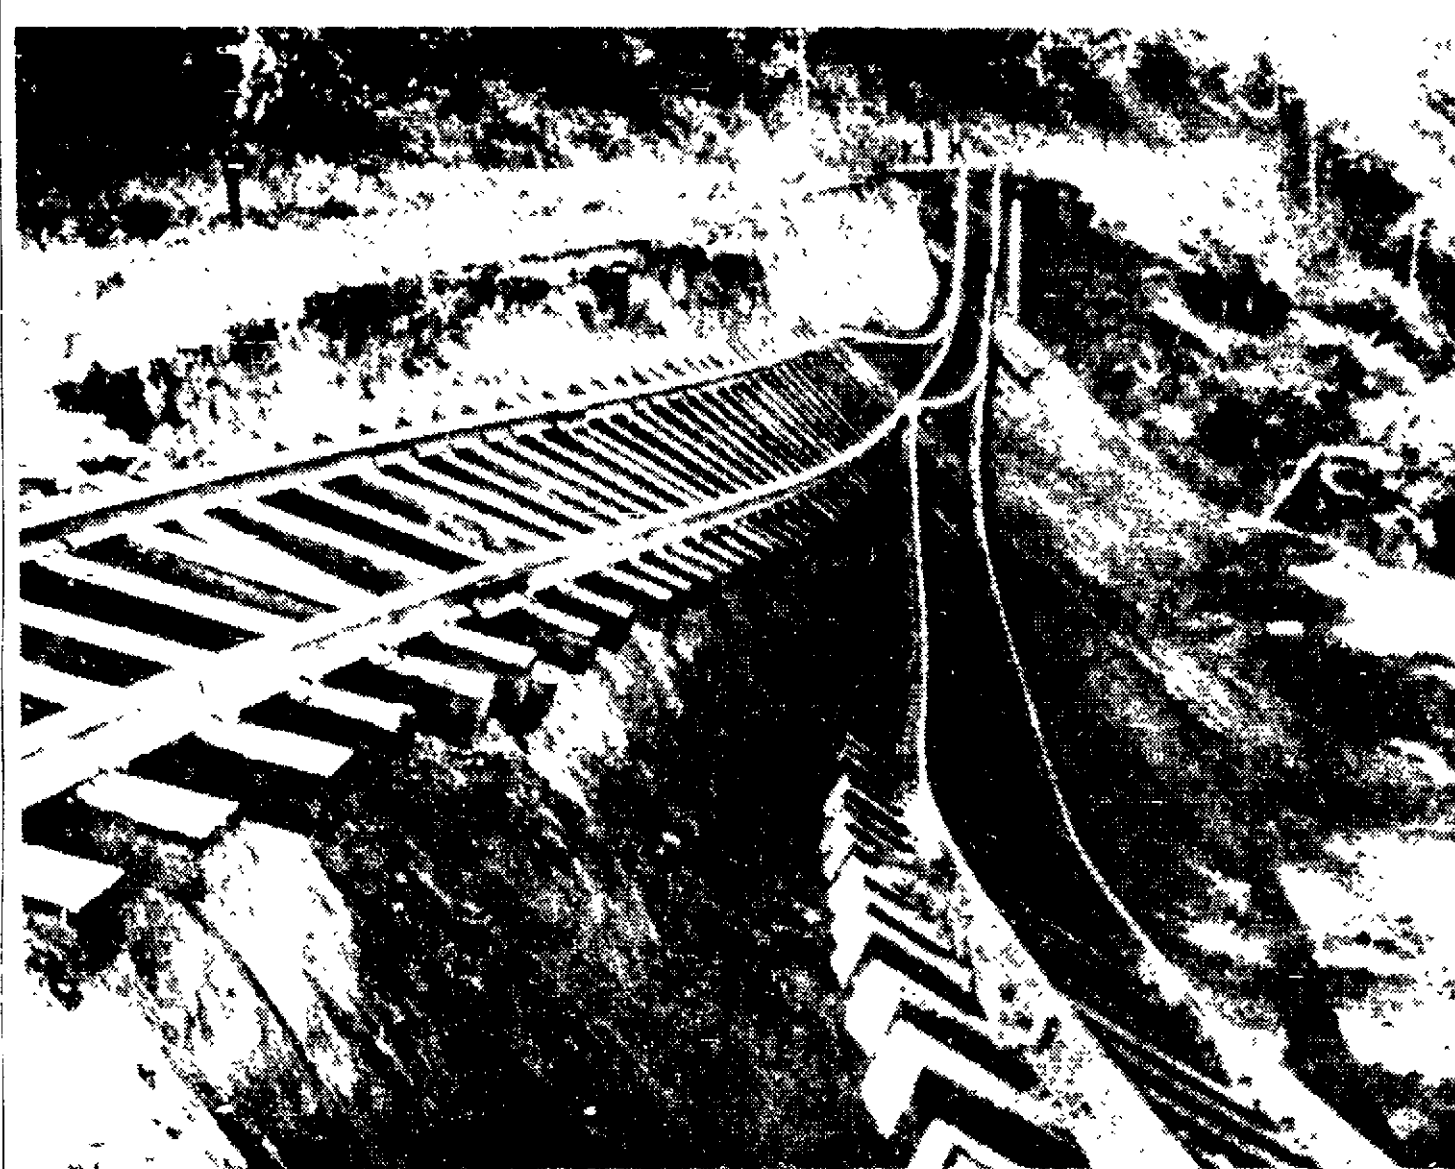

The 7th Division troops at last report had counted about 600 arms, including some American Springfield rifles and a ton of high explosives. Many of the arms were still coated with protective covering and were wrapped in heavy paper.

Counter Attack Fails
Shortly after the weapons were found, the Viet Cong launched a counterattack which apparently failed.

There were no casualty re-

OAS Sanctions an Area Of 9 Square Miles for Safety of All Refugees

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — U.S. Marines with five tanks at the command established an "international zone" of nine square miles in strife-torn Santo Domingo today.

Without incident, they set up their lines to protect American lives in a strip running three miles along the waterfront and inland for 15 blocks to the U.S. Embassy.

As the Marines moved into Santo Domingo, 1,000 troops of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division were landed at San Isidro airbase, 20 miles east of the city. U.S. officials said in all 4,000 will be landed, swelling U.S. forces in Santo Domingo to more than 5,000.

The Organization of American States was said to have sanctioned the international zone for the safety of refugees. Only eight blocks away, fighting was raging between the rival Dominican forces whose civil war is dragging Santo Domingo to the point of anarchy.

The two-day-old military junta appealed for intervention by American troops to help restore order, but U.S. officials said action other than to protect American lives and property would require authorization from the Organization of American States.

However, President Johnson's administration was authoritatively reported in Washington to be on the alert for action to meet any Communist threat to take over the Dominican Republic or plunge it into a Communist "war of liberation."

52 Communists
U.S. officials in Santo Domingo released a list of 52 members of Dominican Communist organizations who they said were believed to have played key roles in the six-day-old rebellion. Beside the name of each man was the Communist country where he was said to have trained — Cuba, China or the Soviet Union.

The rebellion was launched by a group of young army artillery officers seeking to return ousted President Juan Bosch to office. But U.S. officials in Santo Domingo and other observers believe no one now is in control — or could regain control — of the armed rebel bands, which include many young civilians.

American officials hinted strongly that it would be necessary for American troops to occupy Santo Domingo to end the fighting.

"The rebels are a determined group of people who have gone beyond the point of no return, and they are going to keep going until they bring the country down around their necks," one observer said.

Officials said the situation was rapidly approaching anarchy — a total absence of government, law and order.

Estimates of the dead ranged from 400 to more than 1,000. However, no American casualties were reported.

In Washington, the United States asked the OAS to call on the battling Dominican factions to establish an international neutral zone at Santo Domingo for the safety of refugees.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, attending a meeting of the OAS Council which lasted until the early hours today, proposed that the hemispheric organization send a peace committee to Santo Domingo to seek a cease-fire.

On the rebel side were army troops and civilians armed by the rebel army group over the weekend. Supporting the junta

Neither Abel nor McDonald was present at a news conference where the results were reported.

The tellers' report said Abel polled 308,910 votes and McDonald 298,768.

Troopers Guard Women's Prison After Wild Riot

ST. GABRIEL, La. (AP) — State troopers stood overnight guard at the Louisiana State Prison for Women after quelling a shrieking, mud-throwing riot Thursday night with tear gas and streams of water from firehoses.

State Police Supt. Tom Burbank, who hustled in with about 30 men during the three-hour uproar, said there were no serious troubles.

Warden Clyde Griffin said the trouble started after one of the 130 inmates was placed in solitary for hitting a matron in an argument over food.

Seventeen women crawled up to the roof of a two-story dormitory and refused to come down unless the inmate placed in "the hole" was released. They were armed with garden tools. About 50 others milled around in the prison yard, screaming insults and throwing mud at the guards.

Nelson Seeks Lakes Fishing Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and other senators have joined in urging approval of a $1.4 million appropriation to help develop the Great Lakes fishing industry, saying "the industry could disappear within the next two to three years without assistance."

Nelson and 11 other senators expressed their views in a letter to the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The letter said that "only three per cent of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries budget has been allocated for Great Lakes fisheries research and development." They said that was not enough and urged an increase of 35 full time positions within the bureau to work on the Great Lakes problem.

British Plan Takeover of Steel Mills

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson made public today a controversial government plan to take over the nation's steel industry. The move could bring down his Labor government after little more than six months in office.

Arouses Bitter Memories

Many Latins Are Critical Of U. S. Troop Landings

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. landing in the Dominican Republic aroused criticism and bitter memories among Latin Americans today.

"They'll be stoning U.S. embassies all over," said one Latin American diplomat at the United Nations.

President Raul Leoni of Venezuela, in telegrams to President Arturo Illia of Argentina and Eduardo Frei of Chile, was reported to have termed the U.S. action an "invasion" and a "violation of the treaties of the Organization of American States."

Frei replied that he agreed completely.

There was no immediate public response from Illia.

Common Action

Frei called for "common action to bring to an end the bloodshed among the Dominican people and to avoid a dictatorship of any kind."

Peruvian Foreign Minister Fernando Schwalb said it was understandable that the U.S. government wanted to protect its citizens. But, he added, "in this case this has been done in detriment of the sovereignty of an independent nation."

Schwalb said the U.S. action violated the charter of the Organization of American States and said Peru "condemns in all its forms any interference or tendency against the personality of a state."

The Mexican foreign ministry said Mexico hopes the stay of U.S. troops in the Dominican Republic would "be as brief as possible."

Marine Occupations
Referring to previous Marine occupations of the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Nicaragua, and Mexico's Veracruz, the ministry said it "regrets, without disregard to the humanitarian reasons invoked, that the U.S. government has been forced to order a step which evokes painful thoughts among several countries of this hemisphere."

The statement added that

Mexico "sincerely desires and hopes the Dominican people will be able to solve their internal problems without any direct or indirect foreign influence."

Foreign Minister Zavala Ortiz said in Buenos Aires that Argentina's position is to "contribute to a rapid and Pacific solution to the situation to avert a civil war" but that Argentina follows the principle of noninterference.

Public Reserve
Latin American diplomats at the U.N. greeted with public reserve U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson's letter to the Security Council stating U.S. forces had been sent to the Dominican Republic "to protect American citizens still there and to escort them to safety from the country."

But privately the diplomats

Your Problems

Plump Woman Envyies Skinny Friend Who Hates Desserts

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm be honest I don't want to get a nice looking, middle-aged married because I would lose the government check that I've woman who is slightly overweight. I love good food and I am not going to starve to death to squeeze into a size 14. I see no point in trying to be a carbon copy of those emaciated, consumptive women who call themselves models. A friend of mine is as skinny as a rat. She passes up desserts and never touches candy, ice cream or sodas. (She says she doesn't care for them.) How can anyone not care for hot fudge sauce, whipped cream cake and lemon meringue pie? Is it possible that she just says she doesn't like these things and that she is really dying inside? I say she is. What do you say? The whole club wants to know. — Pleasingly Plump

Dear Plump: I hope I don't ruin your day, Doll, but it is entirely possible that the skinny rat has no interest in pies, cakes, fudge sauce and other calorie-laden foods. Some people have a perpetual sweet tooth. Others just don't crave rich foods and can live very nicely without them. (P. S. I enjoy desserts, candy, fudge sauce and the works — and I've been a size 10 for 27 years. So now you can hate both of us.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in my middle twenties and the mother of three children. Their father was killed in the service last year. Several months ago I fell in love with a musician who works odd jobs part-time and is now unemployed. Virgil is divorced and his ex-wife has remarried. She has their two children. I invited Virgil to move in because he was over here all the time anyway. Besides, it was too hard on me to drive him to his rooming house every night, sometimes as late as 4 o'clock in the morning. When my relatives and friends asked when we got married I was ashamed to tell them the truth so I made up a date. Virgil has not mentioned marriage but I think he would marry me if I asked him to. To man who wants to be a husband and a father.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you aren't a doctor, but can you tell me (and millions of other women) what to do about feet that hurt all the time? I am a receptionist and must look well from 9 to 5. My legs are a bit on the heavy side and high heels are a must for me. I tried attractive flats to see if my feet felt better and ended up with terrible pains in my calves. Now I am back on high heels and my feet are killing me. Are aching feet part of a woman's lot? If you say so I'll accept it and shut up. — Barking Dogs

Dear Dogs: You can do two things to quiet those barking dogs. (1) Massage your feet with cream (any kind) every night before going to bed. (2) Buy larger shoes even if

It means going up a whole size. Some women don't realize that their feet get larger as time marches on. They continue to ask for the same size instead of a shoe that fits properly.

Wolf Area Planners Object to Proposed Indian Forest Sale

Protest Condemnation Powers For Conservation Department

A resolution opposing the proposed State Conservation Department acquisition of 205,000 acres of Menominee County land was adopted by the commissioners of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission at its quarterly meeting Thursday.

The resolution, which will be sent to the State Legislature and Gov. Warren Knowles, calls for the Legislature to "recognize and uphold the moral obligation to the Menominee people with regard to their undeniable right to retain title to all the land known as Menominee County as was evidenced in good faith by treaty and trust" by the United States.

The resolution also stated that any further evidence of encroachment by the Conservation Department with regard to condemnation of the Menominee lands "be considered a damnable breach of trust" and "cause for consideration by the Legislature for revocation of such monolithic power as might be exercised by the Conservation Department."

Firm Would Collapse
Gordon A. Bubolz, commission chairman, said Menominee Enterprises Inc., would collapse if the state bought the Monominee land. "The Menominees want to keep the land to have a place to live and work and retain their customs and heritage," Bubolz said. "It would be very premature on the part of the state to purchase the land without giving the Menominees adequate time for economic development."

The commission also opposed Bill A-327, which would give the conservation department the same condemnation and land acquisition powers now possessed by other state agencies, such as the highway commission.

Bubolz said the state has offered the Monominees $30 million for the land and "if they don't accept, the state will condemn the land." He felt the Menominees would not accept the offer.

Commission members pointed out the many possibilities for economic development of the Menominees and Bubolz noted that a federal task force has been sent to help the Menominees develop job skills.

The commission's committee on land acquisition and public facilities is specifically concerning itself and met recently with the Menominees.

Youths Told to Accept Duty Of Preserving Government

Appleton, Xavier High Students Honored at Recognition Dinner

A call for youth to accept the responsibilities needed for preservation of government of law was voiced by Thomas E. Fairchild, justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, Thursday at the annual Youth Recognition dinner of Appleton Elks Lodge.

Sixty-one outstanding scholars and student leaders from Appleton and Xavier High Schools received certificates and awards from Wendell Smith, exalted ruler of the lodge.

The top award, an $800 scholarship, was presented to Karen Ann Kruse of Appleton High School.

Justice Fairchild emphasized that with comfort, wealth, and many advantages good citizenship demands constant effort.

He singled out the need for full rights for all citizens, organizing in the world for peace, and preparing for the impact of automation on our society as major tasks.

Fairchild said American laws and government are uniquely able to solve these and other problems.

Fairchild stated the "greatest assets of our federal and state constitutions and laws are the right of citizens to participate in the making of the laws through the annual Youth Recognition election of the lawmakers, citizens assisting in the application of law as jury members, and the freedoms guaranteed to every citizen, even though the majority may not agree with that person's views."

He said, "our law will serve us well only as long as it is the free choice of the majority of citizens." He called on the student leaders in the audience to keep informed concerning government and to participate in it.

Justice Fairchild recalled how, in the Old Testament, like Esther, they have been "born into our society to fulfill an obligation to improve and preserve our government of law."

He told the students that like Esther, they have been "born into our society to fulfill an obligation to improve and preserve our government of law."

Hassle Over Design for Parking Delays Initial Revamping Plans

The jury is out on the proposed College Avenue reconstruction.

And, judging from mixed comments of business district merchants Thursday night—deliberations might be long and drawn out.

Following the meeting with planning consultants, who favored parallel over angle parking on the city's central business strip, city officials expressed doubt that the first phase of the College Avenue project would be ready to start next year.

Start in 1966
Officials have indicated in recent months that reconstruction of the avenue could possibly get underway in 1966—barring any unforeseen developments or delays in arriving on a suitable plan for a new street.

Disagreement among some College Avenue businessmen over the design and type of parking may stall any final decision on the major project.

While some merchants favored a simple design for the avenue, others indicated the proposed new street should have dynamic appearance.

Somewhere in between, compromise will be the deciding factor and then the city council takes over from there. Aldermen will have the final say on the design and cost of a College Avenue project.

Basic Philosophy

While some open comments of a few business leaders appeared to be negative during the meeting, several others expressed satisfaction with the basic philosophy of the planners during informal discussions following the two-hour session.

The three schemes for the College Avenue of tomorrow proved to be "think pieces," and after modification, one of them might get the blessing of all concerned—the signal for the city engineering department to start preparation of actual construction plans.

In the coming weeks representatives of the College Avenue business community are expected to hold a series of meetings and give the proposed schemes the microscopic treatment.

Once ideas are finalized, the consultants will proceed with a detailed layout of the central business district with emphasis on the College Avenue complex.

Study Group
Sometime ago, a Chamber of Commerce study group inspected the central business layout at Boulder Junction, Colo., a semi-mall layout which preserved angle parking. Several other cities also were checked.

"I think one of the problems we are dealing with here is that some want to make a Boulder Junction out of Appleton and it just won't work for a variety of reasons," confided one official.

Carrie Morgan Award Given Center Student

Patricia Riley Gets Tuition Grant at Founders Day Dinner

Miss Patricia Riley, was awarded a full tuition scholarship for her junior year of study at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, by the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Alumni Association Thursday night.

The scholarship was given at the Founder's Day Dinner of the Fox Valley Alumni Association at the Appleton Elks Club.

The Carrie E. Morgan Scholarship Award was presented to the sophomore student at the University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center, Menasha, by stores on College Avenue, and a Miss Lila Locksmith, secretary-treasurer of the local alumni association board of directors.

Active Student

"Miss Riley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Riley, 831 W. Taylor St., has been as active as any student in the history of the center," Miss Locksmith said. The Appleton High School graduate is an honor student at the center and is active in student government and chairman of the center's social committee. She had the leading role in "Antigone" and is a member of Delta Psi Omega, an honorary group for excellence in dramatics.

She is a member of the French Club and a laboratory assistant in the biological science department. Miss Riley is also a cheerleader.

The scholarship has been presented by the Fox Valley Alumni Association each year since 1952. It is given to a Center student going to the Madison campus as a junior. This is the third time the scholarship has been awarded to a woman. It was dedicated to the late Carrie E. Morgan who was the oldest living alumna of the University of Wisconsin before her death last May. Serving as chairman of the fund is Harold Adams, president of the First National Bank.

New board Members

The new board members introduced by board president, E. J. Kiefer, Neenah, are Mrs. Robert Wahlers, Combined Locks; Richard Hoffman and John Kellogg, both of Appleton.

Carl Stracka, Appleton, chairman of the dinner, introduced Arlie Mucks Jr., executive director of the Wisconsin Alumni Association.

The speaker, Dr. Robert Samp, professor of surgery at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine, was introduced by Mucks.

Man Fined $100 for Disorderly Conduct

Appleton's Civic Leaders See Designs

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Blueprints for preserving Appleton's central business district and bolstering the College Avenue commercial strip were unveiled Thursday night.

Climaxing months of studies and grass roots research, representatives of Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis unveiled three schematic designs for the central city before an estimated 50 public officials and business leaders in city hall.

It nudged the city to another crossroad in connection with its plans, geared to meet present and projected needs for the next 20 years and further cement its role as the hub of a fast-growing Fox Cities urban complex.

The plans—none finalized—were presented by Malcolm Drummond, an associate in the St. Louis firm which is preparing a comprehensive plan for the entire city. The central business district layout represents but one phase of the overall community plan.

1980 Goal

While overlapping, the schemes for the city's core area were pointed to the city's requirements by 1980 and provided for:

—An urban renewal clearing project in several blocks on the south side of W. College Avenue presently occupied by old, unattractive buildings.

—A six-block rehabilitation project in the northeast sector of the near downtown area.

—Four traffic lanes for College Avenue and the replacement of angle with parallel parking.

—A multi-purpose civic center with city, state and federal buildings in the Jones Park region.

—Improving the two main one-way traffic carriers, Washington Street (westbound) and Lawrence Street (eastbound).

—Construction of a bridge to provide another "feeder" from the city's expanding south side to the central business district.

Off-Street Parking

—More off-street parking structures at strategic locations to provide 7,000 to 7,700 additional spaces as backstoppers for new commercial developments.

—Additional department stores on College Avenue, and a new motor motel with service shops.

—Mid-block pedestrian crossings, green spots on the avenue and adjacent streets, off-street malls, and 18-foot sidewalks.

—A pedestrian overhead structure extending from the East Ramp and connecting with College Avenue.

—Regular and high-rise

Official Tells U. S. Position In S. Viet Nam

WSU-O Crowd Hears Director of Office of Vietnamese Affairs

BY DAVID F. WAGNER

OSHKOSH — The United States must demonstrate it has the will and capability to defend its interests in South Viet Nam whatever the cost or peril, according to William Mazzocco, director of the Office of Vietnamese Affairs at Washington.

Mazzocco was guest speaker at the third segment of a symposium on "Viet Nam: The Alternatives in Perspective" at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh's Reeve Memorial Union Thursday evening.

The third large audience this week heard Mazzocco, who coordinates the United States' economic aid program in the Southeast Asian country explain that the American aid program to South Viet Nam differs from its operations in other nations.

Previous speakers in the symposium sponsored by the WSU-O international relations department were Dr. Russell Fifield, chairman of the political science department at the University of Michigan, and Dr. Paul Mus, Southeast Asia Studies program professor at Yale University.

Military Action Needed

Mazzocco said military action in South Viet Nam must be carried out to assure the success of our aid program. The Viet Cong, he noted, through their insurgency cancel out gains made by our aid if the military does not prevent the terrorism.

In most countries which receive United States economic aid, Mazzocco said, the plan calls for just economic development while in South Viet Nam, we try to bring about social progress as well.

An example of this social progress is the rural reconstruction program. Mazzocco noted the program seeks social and political objectives. The reconstruction began in 1961 and has been growing since. The United States has built, stocked and trained personnel for 12,500 health stations throughout the country and has sponsored 4,400 rural class rooms.

Also part of the program for rural reconstruction has been the construction of 16 surgical suites and the sending of nurses and trainers to help the Vietnamese manning the suites.

to center on what type of parking College Avenue should have — rather than taking the entire central business district picture into consideration — trouble lies ahead," was the reaction of one retailer.

Missionary Work

"I think we will have to do quite a bit of missionary work among our own members. . . call it an educational program if you have to. . . to put this downtown reconstruction in the proper perspective," added another.

Several expressed disappointment that not enough detail and emphasis was placed on the College Avenue schemes by the planners, but were assured the detail could were a four level parking structure below street for 1,800 cars, and auditorium seating 4,000, city hall and library, new post office (federal building) and state offices building.

It was disclosed the county will have enough space in the present courthouse and annex once renters move out. The latter would be designated for the civic center.

Clear Area

Drummond cautioned government and business leaders not to thumb their nose at urban renewal, indicating there was only one area in which clearance would have to be undertaken. The city, with possible assistance from the federal government, could purchase old buildings, tear them down and then sell cleared sites to developers.

One nationally known company has been attempting to assemble a land package downtown to build a new retail store, but an adequate site is not available.

"We hope from these schemes will come ideas and finalized plans for the treatment of the central business district," Drummond said.

The consultant said angle parking would represent a detriment to the new College Avenue.

"Although the avenue may lose between 150 and 200 spaces as a result, parallel parking is more desirable," Drummond said.

Should another bridge be erected across the Fox River, it would cut across the edge of Riverview Golf Course and necessitate removal of one green, the consultant said.

Four Lanes

Drummond insisted College Avenue required four lanes for moving traffic even with the Franklin Street bypass. He said with the number of people driving to Appleton's downtown daily, adequate circulation was needed.

Some businessmen expressed fear the avenue would become a fast-traveled thoroughway but Drummond assured this would not happen.

"We are trying to create an environment for the business district with benches, drinking fountains, trees and other green spots," Drummond declared. He said this was one of the reasons for the 18-foot sidewalk.

Drummond said Appleton's downtown had considerable potential now but did not rule out the possibility of outlying commercial developments detracting from the central business district.

tion, its value of freedom, way of judging their fellowman, faith in man and government, and the belief in a man as a person and individual, not as a chattel. "America's greatness didn't just happen, it came about because hundreds religiously worked at it," he said.

"We have been chosen as the world leader. To fulfill this role, we must be strong at home," said Renk. He advocated, this nation must remain strong spiritually, economically, and with an intensity of purpose to be a leader.

"A boundiful God has given our nation many blessings. Our forefathers have built a great country. Let each one of us in his own way dedicate ourselves over again to contribute to freedom beyond the call of duty," he concluded.

Reports were given and directors named. Directors include Norbert Gerend, Eugene Lange, Carl Runte and James Witt. Directors will meet within a few weeks to elect officers. Willis Baer served as emcee and Rev. Ernest Bartels gave the invocation.

Wolf River region to oppose the proposed cut.

The resolution was originally adopted by the Outagamie County Board April 21.

In the preliminary report of the commission's comprehensive development plan, prepared by the state Department of Resource Development, it was noted that bank erosion and siltation have become increasingly serious problems in parts of the Wolf River basin.

The report indicated that past policies have not been completely effective in dealing with the problems, and recommended the commission encourage the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to continue its analysis of the causes in its river bank stabilization program.

Ask Aid Extension

It also recommended that strong support be given by the federal government to extend eligibility for financial assistance to the urbanized parts of the region.

Flood problems are local rather than regional in scope. The report noted. The most critical flood problems are at New London and in agricultural areas along the Shioc River.

Flood problems in other parts of the region will increase substantially if additional urban development takes place on flood plains.

"Flood control has been found to be economically unfeasible," the report stated, and recommended the commission and appropriate federal and state agencies examine the appropriateness and economic feasibility of alternate adjustments to flood control.

Fish, Game Resources

The report recommended that steps be taken to preserve the excellent fish and game resources. It called for accelerated efforts to:

Improve water quality by providing more public sewage disposal systems in place of septic tank systems.

Preserve marsh and spawning areas in their natural state.

Employ soil conservation practices to protect lakes and streams from siltation and fertilization.

Maintain substantial private lands as fishing and hunting areas.

Stretch Runners Post Main Threat To Derby Favorite

BY KELSO STURGEON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There's no doubt in Bill Winfrey's mind that Bold Lad is the best horse in the Kentucky Derby, but he admits he can't stop worrying about two or three others in the field of 11 that have reputations as strong stretch runners.

"I'm not worried a bit about any speed horses in this race," the veteran trainer said. "Speed, of course, is a big factor in racing but I don't think that a horse like Flag Raiser can win it. He's just not a 1 1/4-mile horse.

"My concern is with the horses that will be coming from behind," Winfrey said. "I think I'm running the best horse, but like 'Native Dancer' I feel as good about Bold Lad's chances as I did about Native Dancer's," he said. "The only difference in the two was that Native Dancer already had proven himself at distances up to 1 1/4 miles, while Bold Lad never has won at more than one mile.

"But, as I have said before, I don't think the distance factor will make any difference," he said.

This will be Winfrey's first Derby horse since he ran Native Dancer and Social Outcast as an entry in 1953. On that Saturday afternoon 12 years ago Native Dancer was beaten by a head by Dark Star for the only loss of his racing career.

Bold Lad was installed the 8-5 favorite for the 91st running of this historic racing classic at Churchill Downs Saturday. He will be ridden by Bill Hartack, the most successful jockey in Derby history and the man who has won this race on the last three mounts he's had in it.

Eighth Richest Race
With 11 starters, the Derby will have a gross value of $154,500, making it the eighth richest in history.

The winner will pick up a purse of $112,000, while $25,000 will go to the second place finisher. Third place is worth $12,500 and fourth $5,000.

The Saturday forecast calls for fair and warm weather and the track should be lightning fast.

Post time is set for 4:45 p.m. EST., for the first jewel of the Triple Crown.

The race will be carried on national radio and television (CBS) from 4-5 p.m.

Bold Lad, running under the colors of Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, is expected to get his main competition from those stretch runners which are on Winfrey's mind.

Tom Rolfe, a bay colt from the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest, was listed by the official odds maker at Churchill Downs as the second choice at 4-1. Tom Rolfe won the Stepping Stone purse.

The third choice is Mrs. Ada Rice's Lucky Debonair at 5-1, fresh here Saturday morning.

while Florida Derby winner Native Charger, owned by Albert Warner, was listed at 8-1.

Another horse from which Winfrey expects trouble is Hail to All, who has been out of the money only twice in 18 starts. This bay colt, owned by Mrs. Ben Cohen, will be handled for the first time by jockey Manuel Ycaza. Hail to All is listed at 10-1.

Flag Raiser, a colt with blistering speed who has won three straight stakes races, will open at 10-1. Flag Raiser is owned by Isidor Bieber and ridden by Bob Ussery.

Listed at 15-1 is Ogden Phipps' Dapper Dan, who will be handled by Milo Valenzuela. At 12-1 is Arkansas Derby winner Swift Ruler, owned by Earl Allen and ridden by Larry Spraker.

At 20-1 is Mr. Pac, owned by Mrs. Mary Keim and ridden by Jimmy Nichols. Rounding out the field at 30-1 are John W. Meom's Narushua and Perne L. Grissom's Carpenter's Rule. Terry Dunlavy will be up on Narushua and Bill Harnatz will ride Carpenter's rule.

Singleton Paces St. Norbert Win

DE PERE (AP)—Tim Singleton won the 100, 220 and 440 yard runs Thursday in leading the St. Norbert track team to an 80-49 victory over Ripon College in a dual meet.

John McNally of St. Norbert set a school pole vault record of 12 feet, 4 inches to erase the 12 foot standard he set last year.

The club announced Thursday that the former Southern Methodist standout will spend next season doing color or human interest broadcasting over CBS coverage of the Cowboys' games.

firsts led by John Berg's double victories in the high and low hurdles. Ron Miller who ran a leg on each of the relay teams, and Tim Gillingham who took a first and a second in the 100 and 220.

The 220 nearly required a photo finish as Lourdes' John Duprey beat teammate Tim Gillingham by a tenth of a second to win the event, while third place went to Fox Lutheran's Darrow Mallmann who finished four tenths of a second behind Duprey.

Also close was the low hurdles in which the three winners finished only three tenths of a second behind each other: Berg :24.3, Neubauer :24.6, Brooks :24.9.

The most exciting event was the mile in which FVL's Duane Sternhagen quickly took the lead and set the pace for 3 1/2 laps when Lourdes' Tom Brooks began kicking it in. Coming out of the last turn Sternhagen still held the lead though slight, pulled out in the last 20 yards passed Sternhagen to win by five-tenths of a second.

An encouraging note for Foxes fans was in the 440 and 880, the only running events other than the mile in which Fox Valley managed to place two men. In the 440 Gary Buss placed second and Alex Knaus third, and in the 880 Tom Ehkne grabbed second and Eugene Schabo third. Both Knaus and Schabo are sophomores.

Top scorer for the night was Lourdes' Tim Gillingham who finished with two firsts, a second, and a winning leg in the 880 relay for a total of 14 1/4 points. He was followed by teammate John Berg who finished with his two first in the hurdles. The highest point production of the Foxes came from Darrow Mallmann and Bill Neubauer each finishing with six points.

Astros Beginning to Think They're as Good as Anybody

HOUSTON (AP) — Some of the fans apparently are taking the Houston Astros seriously.

One has even asked for tickets to World Series games in the new Astrodome, the team's new $31.6 million air conditioned, all-weather structure.

A ninth place finish is generally predicted for the Astros in the 10-team National League and they may follow the form chart but presently they are in a third place, only a half game out of first. They have never finished higher than eighth in their three previous years. They will be seeking their eighth straight victory when they open a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs tonight. The streak is the longest in the National League so far this season.

Truckers Net Team Edges Ghosts, 4-3

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville High School tennis team swept both doubles matches and pulled out a 4-3 victory over Kaukauna in a Mid-Eastern Conference dual here Thursday. The win evened the Trucker record at 1-1 in M-E play and boosted the squad to a 2-1 mark overall.

Singles:
Don Priebe (K) beat John Larson, 6-1, 6-3
John Hagedorn (C) beat Tom Collins, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4
Scott Stromberg (C) beat Art Lamers, 6-1, 6-1.
Bill Nagan (K) beat Greg Anunson, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.
Dave Schwallenberg (K) beat John Sparks, 6-4, 6-3.
Doubles:

Legion League's Central Division Opens June 12

The Central Division of the Fox Valley American Legion Baseball League approved its 1965 schedule at a meeting at Weyauwega Wednesday. League play opens June 12, with Clintonville at Appleton East. The other six teams follow June 14, with New London at Waupaca, Manawa at Winneconne and Marion at Weyauwega-Fremont.

The league season concludes July 21. New London earlier had intended to drop from the league for financial reasons, but a fund drive put the club on solid ground and it will compete this season. New London and Appleton are the only charter members of the circuit.

Slices 6 Strokes Off Par

Arnold Palmer Leads By 2 at Las Vegas

BY BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Arnold Palmer led the way into the second round of the $75,000 Tournament of Champions today, and to the dismay of his admirers, two-time winner Jack Nicklaus was eight long strokes back.

But as a well-known sage from West Virginia — golfer name of Sam Snead — predicted:

"When the curtain comes down, Nicklaus will be there — with his hand out."

The 32-year-old Snead, sitting in the press tent, reflected a moment, looked out at what he calls "those flippity-wristed kids" on the practice tee, and continued:

"Maybe Nicklaus had a bad night the night before, maybe the colic. He putts too good and hits too good. He'll be around at the finish."

Colic or whatever, Nicklaus had a first round 74 and got only one birdie, and that belatedly at the 15th hole.

And Palmer, meanwhile, escaped the putting miseries that have baffled him for a year and shot a six-under-par 66.

Sunny weather — it was a high 90 Thursday — was promised as the field of 28 resumed play over the 7,209-yard, par 36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course.

Trail by Two
Two strokes back of Palmer were Snead, who had only one disastrous hole: Bill Casper Jr. and young Dick Sikes.

Bruce Crampton, Chuck Courtney, George Knudson, Rod Funseth and Doug Sanders were tied at 69, and Bob Charles, Paul Harney and Chi Chi Rodriguez were deadlocked at 70.

Nicklaus, the 5-2 betting favorite to win the event for the since 1958 and All-NFL three third straight time, beat only times. Ted went to Indiana, was one golfer in the initial round. Pete Brown of Los Angeles had 1958-59 and has been a Chicago 78, along with a muscle spasm Bear since 1960. Lou, a Purdue in the back that might put him man, played with the Washington Redskins 1950-52 and now is out of action.

That's the best I've putted in a city councilman in Gary.

a year," said Palmer, who hasn't won a tournament in a year. He needed only 26 putts for the round.

What did he think of his eight strokes over Nicklaus?

"You never know in this game," Palmer replied. But he was obviously happy over his game.

Forgotten by those who went overboard on Nicklaus was Jack's own observation that he might not be as sharp for a tournament of this nature after a two-week layoff since winning the Masters.

Mrs. Karras Named Top NFL Mother

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Mother's Day, May 9, will be extra special for a lady from Gary, Ind., who has watched her sons play more than 100 football games, not counting those she saw on television.

She is Mrs. Emmeline Karras Schofield, mother of three National Football League stars named today the pro football Mother of the Year at the pro football Hall of Fame here.

Mrs. Schofield's sons Alex, Ted and Lou Karras will be here and will join other players, high school and college gridders in saluting their mothers during a special program.

Alex, Ted and Lou Karras played tackle, were all-state in high school and played at Big Ten universities.

Alex who attended Iowa, has been with the Detroit Lions since 1958 and All-NFL three third straight time, beat only times. Ted went to Indiana, was one golfer in the initial round. Pete Brown of Los Angeles had 1958-59 and has been a Chicago 78, along with a muscle spasm Bear since 1960. Lou, a Purdue in the back that might put him man, played with the Washington Redskins 1950-52 and now is out of action.

Black Hawks Rally To Even Cup Series

BY JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks and their latest hero, defenseman Moose Vasko, will try to turn in a repeat performance of their semifinal series and win the Stanley Cup in Montreal Saturday night.

The Hawks, who have been rebounding ever since the play-offs began a month ago, did it again Thursday night when they scored a pair of goals in the final period for a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

Vasko, who had scored only one goal during the regular season, came up with his first play-off goal since 1961 at 6:06 of the final period to tie the game.

A couple of minutes later, Doug Mohns scored on a power play and the Hawks held on for their third triumph against three losses in the best-of-7 series.

Neither team as yet has been able to win away from home, giving the Canadiens a decided advantage in the final game. But the Hawks are taking heart in the fact that the semifinal series went the same way until they scored the clincher in Detroit in the seventh game.

'Anybody's Series'

"It's anybody's series now," said General Manager Tommy Ivan of the Hawks. "Sure they'll be favored on their home ice but so was Detroit and we won. When you get down to the seventh game for the Cup, anyone can win it."

Chicago Coach Billy Reay had high praise for Vasko, Pierre Pilote and goalie Glenn Hall. Vasko's tying goal, Pilote's inspirational play and Hall's late save added to the victory.

Ralph Backstrom, blanked in 11 games, gave the Canadiens the lead with a goal at 11:57 of the second period. The Canadiens didn't get close to another score until 1½ minutes remained when Bobby Rousseau fired a shot which Hall grabbed behind his back.

Buddy Brehmer Gets Cage Post At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joe (Bud) Brehmer, an advocate of the fast break that brought basketball renown to St. Louis University, was named head cage coach at the school Thursday.

He replaces John Benington, who resigned last week to take the coaching job at Michigan State after seven years at St. Louis.

Brehmer, 39, has coached the last 13 years at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, where he compiled a 228-132 record and led his team to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics title in 1963.

Pancho Gonzales Beat Segura In Tournament

NEW YORK (AP) — Pancho Gonzales opened defense of his U.S. indoor professional tennis title with a 6-2, 6-4, victory over 44-year-old Pancho Segura Thursday night and moved into the semifinals.

Gonzales, seeded third in the $15,000 tournament, had little trouble with Segura, using power and change of direction to force the smaller Pancho into errors.

Gonzales, seeded behind Australia's Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver, won his match after Luis Ayala of Chile had gained the quarterfinals with a 6-0, 4-6, 6-3 decision over Sam Giammalva of Houston.

Hole-in-1 Shooter Opposed To Drink-Buying Custom

AVON, Conn. (AP) — Traditionally, a golfer who shoots a hole-in-one buys the drinks afterward.

But Ev Hanlon doesn't like the tradition and he's fighting it.

Hanlon, an amateur golfer, scored his third hole-in-one Wednesday on the Avon Golf Club's 170-yard, par 3, 11th hole.

Instead of buying drinks he wrote a letter to the U.S. Golf Association.

"I've disliked the idea of a hole-in-one shooter buying for years. I experienced it twice before and told myself then that were I ever to get another, my first step wouldn't be a trip to the bar, but rather, a letter to the U.S.G.A., he said Thursday.

"I want it understood that it is the principle, and not the money involved, certainly not over refreshments," he said.

Hanlon asked the U.S.G.A. to rule on whether his hole-in-one can be called an "unplayable lie, thereby, in all probability.

WSU-O Tennis Team Triumphs

DE PERE — The Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh tennis team scored its second victory in a row and third in four outings Wednesday, defeating St. Norbert College, 8-1, here.

All six Titan singles men were victorious: Ralph Kjornes over Tom Ebsen, 6-1, 6-1; Bob Witt over Pat Woodke, 7-5, 6-4; Doug Melius over "Cub" Wade, 6-1, 6-0; Bob Krause over Bob Paulick, 6-3, 6-3; Bud Beattie over Mike Franken, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, and Jim Wagner over Steve Nicks, 7-5, 6-3. Krause, Beattie and Wagner are freshmen from Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh, respectively.

In doubles action, Kjornes-Witt topped Ebsen-Franken, 6-4, 6-3, and Melius-Krause dumped Wade-Paulick, 6-2, 6-3. St. Norbert picked up its lone win in the third doubles match, where Woodke-Nicks edged Wagner-Beattie, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Ray Scott to Return As Announcer for 1965 Packer Games

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ray Scott of Minneapolis will return next year as play-by-play announcer for the Columbia broadcasting System telecasts of Green Bay Packer National Football League games, the network said Thursday.

Scott held the assignment from 1956 through 1963 but quit because of a difference with CBS over the handling of the games. He was replaced last season by Earl Gillespie of Milwaukee.

Gillespie said a conflict of sponsors led to his dismissal. Former Packer star Tony Canadeo will continue as the "color" man.

O'Dell's Relief Pitching Sparks Braves Again

O'Dell in five of the Braves' games. The relief ace has responded by allowing only one run in 13 1-3 innings.

Sadowski was cruising along with a two-hitter, one a run-resulting triple which sailed over centerfielder Ty Cline's head in the fourth, when he was forced to retire after pitching the sixth.

The Braves tied the count 1-1 in their half of the fourth on a walk to Hank Aaron and singles by Joe Torre and Denny Menke. Then Sadowski's bat and base running ignited a decisive two-run fifth.

Sadowski singled to center and slid into third as Felipe Alou singled. The attempted cut-down by St. Louis center-fielder Curt Flood struck the sliding Sadowski and the ball rolled into the dugout. Sadowski limped home as Alou moved to third. Alou then scored on a wild pitch.

Sadowski managed to hurl the sixth before his left knee began to swell. Then he had to retire for ice pack treatment. Precautionary X-rays were scheduled for today.

"Poor Slide"
"I made a poor slide," Sadowski said. "I started the slide too late and jammed my knee. I guess I pulled some ligaments, but it doesn't appear to be too serious."

Cards Lose Money In Milwaukee Series

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It probably cost the St. Louis Cardinals a pretty good chunk of money to visit Milwaukee for their three-game baseball series with the Braves.

Despite 67-degree weather at game time, only 2,182 fans turned out at County Stadium for the series finale Thursday night. That brought the three-game attendance to 5,183.

The Cardinals received their regular visiting club share of 27½ cents on each dollar. On that basis, the club pocketed less than $2,000. Hotel, meal and travel expenses far exceeded that.

Tom Huhn retained his lead in the singles with a 17 count, including 78 pins handicap and Norm Joecks ranks second with 685 and Larry Lenz is third with 665.

lowing Williams to score. A walk loaded the base before Koonce singled one run home and Glenn Beckert singled in two more.

Robinson Homer
Frank Robinson ruined Koonce's shutout bid with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Trailing 4-3, the Orioles won it in the eighth when Brooks Robinson stroked a two-out single and Norm Siebern crashed his first homer off the season.

The winning blow came off Phil Ortega, who drew an automatic $50 fine in the fifth inning for throwing at Johnny Orsino. Orsino had homered in his previous at-bat. Woodie Held hit two solo homers for the Senators.

Merc's sound-engineered quiet with the "fat-padding" method of silencing

The new 4- and 6-cylinder Mercs are 50% quieter. Merc's silencing came, primarily, from two new principles:

- A wall of engine cooling water surrounds Merc's new internal exhaust pipe and prevents noise from escaping through the sides of the drive shaft housing. This wall-of-water also damps out mechanical vibration. Unlike ordinary outboards, which pay for noise reduction by sacrificing power, Merc's new silencing system actually boosts power to the prop.
- Mercs have a new, non-broadcasting cowl that is isolated from the vibrating powerhead by large, soft-rubber mounts. The cowl actually "floats" around the powerhead. All openings for controls are sealed with neoprene to insure that sound is trapped inside the cowl.

Dyna-Float, aircraft-type suspension . . . an elastically isolated steering arm . . . offset wrist pins . . . small-bore, short-stroke design . . . and exclusive Jet-Prop exhaust are just a few more of the reasons why Mercs are 50% quieter.

Make the sound comparison yourself. Drop by your Mercury dealer today . . . he's got it on the record. He can also give you more reasons why you get more RUN for your money with Mercury . . . 100, 90, 65, 60, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp.

Why America's Dairyland

As thousands of Wisconsin motorists travel over this land on vacation and business trips every year, they carry with them the slogan America's Dairyland on their vehicle registration plates by force of state law.

Over the years there have been some doubts told about the validity of that promotion device over alternatives that could be used. Some critics, no doubt facetiously, have noted that Wisconsin is the beer capital of the world. We are proud of our sports fishery and other outdoors recreational resources. Our paper and paper products manufacturing plants are world famed and in output are among the giants of the industry.

Now comes a more pertinent query about the wisdom of the choice of America's Dairyland, chosen many years ago, as an exclusive state promotion theme.

In an incisive study of the comparative status of the Wisconsin economy and its evident lag in competition with other states of the region and of the country as a whole, the University of Wisconsin bureau of business research has emphasized in the strongest terms the need for industrial promotion.

Although our advertising about our economic characteristics appears to be concerned about disguising the fact, Wisconsin is no longer an agricultural state in its primary production. Wisconsin is an industrial state and its future prosperity will be related to the expansion and prosperity of its industry, says Prof.

John G. Udell in a report which is as distinguished for the depth of its research as for the candor of its conclusions.

Says Prof. Udell: "Wisconsin has long been recognized and promoted as an agricultural state. Our automobile license plates advertise 'America's Dairyland' and we have sent the world's largest cheese to the World's Fair. Wisconsin can rightfully be proud of its great dairy and other agricultural industries and should continue to promote them.

"However, we have failed to properly recognize the huge and growing importance of manufacturing in Wisconsin."

"...over 43 per cent of the wages and salaries earned in Wisconsin come directly from manufacturing activities, as opposed to 32 per cent in the nation. An additional 18 per cent of Wisconsin's wages and salaries come from mining, contract construction, business repair services, transportation, communications, public utilities, finance, insurance and real estate. Wisconsin is an industrial state and should be promoted as such."

This is a realistic reminder, at a time when the state administration has given a major emphasis to the theme of industrial promotion, that the stereotypes about the economic characteristics of Wisconsin are out of date. It is not that we love the dairy business, from farm production to milk plant processing, any less. It is, instead, a compelling economic fact of life that general industry is now the indispensable economic base of our community and the obvious key to our growth in the future.

The Confused Airline Case

Developments in the North Central Airlines regional airport controversy have brought the situation to the point where officials of Outagamie County must make a public decision soon regarding how far the county will go in its legal fight with the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), North Central Airlines and Winnebago County.

The reason this official declaration by the county should be made, if not alone for the sake of taxpayers who are paying the legal bill, is for the sake of people who have invested money in securities of Air Wisconsin, the new urban airline which has been formed to link the Fox Cities with O'Hare Field in Chicago. The airline was formed to provide the area with commercial air service to replace the service provided by North Central and when it departs, Air Wisconsin officials seem to be in the position where they must sit on top of their investors' capital until they have a positive determination that North Central no longer will provide service to the Fox Cities at the Outagamie County Airport. Air Wisconsin officials, in fact, even have requested assurances from the CAB that if and when North Central does leave, there is a reasonable certainty that they won't come back.

As matters stand today, it may be December before it will be known if North Central must continue service at the Outagamie County Airport, and even then, it may not be certain for how long. The U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago isn't expected to reach a decision on the appeal of the CAB regional airports order until November or December. Appeals in the case have been filed by the State Aeronautics Commission, Outagamie County and Appleton. Ashland and Clintonville. The federal court's ruling of Monday seems to indicate that North Central must serve the new airport until the final decision is reached. And, even if the federal court does eventually overrule the CAB on the regional airport question, it still wouldn't be a final determination. The court could do like the First District U.S. Court did in a similar case involving Bridgeport and New Haven, Conn., where it told the CAB its findings were "inaccurate and capricious" and ordered the board to conduct new hearings and reconsider the evidence. Should the Chicago federal court reach the same conclusion, it may be another two years of CAB hearings, rulings, appeals, counter-appeals, etc.

Air Wisconsin cannot wait that long. Its officers have authority from the board of directors to purchase aircraft. It's understandable if the new airline's officers are hesitant about buying aircraft when they don't know if and how long North Central will continue to serve the Fox Cities at the Outagamie airport.

County officials must decide in the very near future whether or not they want service from Air Wisconsin by deciding how far they intend to go in their fight to retain North Central service. As matters stand now, it may not be known until some time in 1968 what the permanent status of North Central service will be.

Soviet Journalism Jumps the Gun

Tass, the official Russian news agency, caused more than a few ripples of amazement recently when it published reports of contact with radio waves which scientists at the Soviet Astronomical Institute had concluded came "from intelligent beings belonging to a highly developed civilization." One professor was even quoted as having joyfully announced "a super-civilization has been discovered."

But what should cause even greater amazement is that Soviet scientists immediately criticized the announcement in public and Tass backed down.

In these days of space ships, the possibilities of life on other planets no longer seem as remote as when H. G. Wells and Edgar Rice Burroughs were writing their early science fiction thrillers. The various Russian scientists now say they do consider that the radio waves may come from intelligent beings, but "we lack sufficiently big aerials, and not enough research has been done to solve the problem." They are actually appealing to scientists in other countries, including the United States, to help solve the mystery of the CTA-102 radio waves as named by the California Institute of Technology which has been busy in the matter.

The scientists also criticized the news agency report. "It is our right to ask journalists that they respect their great responsibilities, which does not always happen."

Communists or not, the scientists almost sound like people in a democracy. And Tass hastily quoted the criticism and explained that the super civilization was "merely a hypothesis, though very fruitful and interesting."

Indeed it is.

Looking Backward

State Soldiers' Home Planned

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 29, 1865.

The philanthropic of our State are now engaged in the laudable enterprise of collecting funds to erect a Home at Milwaukee which shall be a quiet and a comfortable retreat for the disabled heroes who return alive from the war.

To this end, a State Fair is to be held in Milwaukee, June 28th, to which all in city and country, should contribute according to their ability.

Gov. Lewis has issued a proclamation commending the enterprise to the fostering care of the good people of the State, and announcing the fact that the Legislature, at its recent session, appropriated $5,000 to aid the institution.

The ladies of this city are now at work to the same end, and the Good Templar Lodge here is also wide-awake on the subject as all secret and benevolent societies of the State should be.

May we not urge upon the farmers' wives and daughters in this and adjoining counties the propriety of their aiding in furnishing a Home for the Disabled Soldiers of Wisconsin?

They can do much for the good cause.

Ban on Mail Order Gun Sales Can Lead to Terrible Abuses

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In January, Senator Thomas J. Dodd (Connecticut) introduced S.14, a bill designed to regulate the mail order sale of guns. He may mean well but he is wrong.

This law will only hurt the honest people. You cannot legislate morality, prohibition proved this. If a man wants to rob a bank or even shoot a president he is not going to worry about some small gun registration or mail order sale law. If a crook wants a gun he will get it by hook or by crook.

Let's analyze this small innocent law step by step and show how bureaucracy (government red tape expense and socialism), politics (some rich man or industry gaining something by a law) and eventually complete government control will finally swallow us all as we lose our individual rights guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and the Constitution. Or worse yet our country.

Note:

1. Law prohibiting the sale of guns through the mail. (Exceptions: Gun dealers with a license—bureaucracy and politics)

2. Law: $100 permit needed to sell guns (bureaucracy and politics). Few hardware or general stores could afford this. Now it's hard to get ammunition and the Secretary of Treasury is only letting his friends sell guns.

3. Law prohibiting minor to buy or own guns or maybe register guns. (Bureaucracy) Government trying to play father and mother.

4. Law prohibiting the import of foreign guns (Politics)

Winchester and Remington would love this. Browning, one of the best guns in the world is made in Belgium.

5. Law for registration of guns crossing state lines. (Bureaucracy)

6. Law for registration of hand guns (Bureaucracy).

7. Law prohibiting mailing of guns for repairs without special permit. (Bureaucracy and politics)

8. Law requiring $1000 manufacturer's license to reload shells. (Politics) Shell manufacturers get in the act.

9. Law requiring the registration of all guns.

10. General public gives up: it is too complicated to own a gun. In effect we have disarmed the public and his right to defend his personal property, self and country.

11. A foreign government will certainly have access to our registration records and know where all the guns are. (Possibilities for conquest are obvious.)

12. Right now all you old ladies are saying so what, the government will take care of us. Lady that is what the German people thought when Hitler came to power.

Facts Cited to Support School for Little Chute

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Calling Little Chute "A Sleeping Community" in discussing the school situation alerted me to the realization that it was necessary to awaken our people to a few facts. Being tolerant becomes difficult when these self-called religious people constantly abuse the eighth commandment (Calumny, back biting and detraction) in their articles. The Ten Commandments are a guidepost to all creeds.

Let us put a few things in their proper perspective. Regarding vocational schools: (Post Crescent of March 14, Page D 1) "All areas in the state shall be in vocational and adult, technical or community education districts by 1970 in accordance with plans of the state board and coordinating committee. Every existing local vocational and adult board in the territory included in one of the newly-created districts shall cease to exist at such a time as the state board declares the new district to be created."

Curriculum: I believe the board did an outstanding job. With the seven day class period the Freshmen must take five required subjects. Every student needs at least one study period. For the remaining period they offer a choice of four academic subjects in addition to choir and glee club. The sophomores will have to take four required subjects. They have a choice of seven elective subjects plus band, choir, and glee club. The problem will be in deciding "which"—not "what."

The state dept. of education is quite a watchdog. As to size of classes; I attended a small high school, fifteen in our class, and we found we couldn't bluff our way through because we were sure to be called on several times within a single class period. Let's face it: each child will get out of any school exactly what he wants. I sincerely hope these parents' anxieties over their children's future will extend in all directions. Then we can be assured of a new low in juvenile delinquency.

State Aid: I think it only fair to mention that when speaking of state aid that the public grade school is included in the high school district, so add another 300 to the total.

What baffles me is that none of the pro-annexation group have proposed annexation to the Freedom school district. Why not—we have a lot in common, common ancestry and the fact that they too have no mill to support their economy. That way we would only have three public schools to support and their bonded indebtedness is $870,000. That's another item no one seems to mention—that we also assume the bonded indebtedness of the district we join. Kaukauna's bonded indebtedness (Post-Crescent, Apr. 21) after they build this projected grade school will be three million eight hundred and sixty four thousand dollars. Kimberly's is ever changing right now as they are in the process of building at Combined Locks and purchasing property for another grade school. If you are going to transport children the road runs north as well as east and south. Transportation costs to Kimberly would be less as more students live within the two mile walking area. Our proposed new high school is so centrally located that only the few from the Town of Vandenberg would have to be transported.

An ounce of fact means more than a ton of argument, so, when in the process of evaluation, consider all aspects of the situation. Whatever your decision be, arrived at after a careful study, let it be a fair one, be it consolidation, annexation or building.

Knowles to Gain Firm Hold of Conservation Commission Majority

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Confirmation by the State Senate of the second and third of Gov. Warren Knowles' nominees for seats on the Conservation Commission assures a stability of policy and outlook in the direction of the state conservation program which probably attracts the eager interest of more residents of Wisconsin than any other state government division.

Wyngaard

The ratification of the nomination of Charles F. Smith of Wausau for a new term, of Arthur MacArthur of Janesville, a former commissioner, for a return to his old seat, and of the governor's selection of Dan Tyler of Price County undoubtedly foreshadows the early approval in the Senate of the governor's decision to retain the services of Guido Rahr of Manitowoc, now the commission chairman and dean of the board.

Thus there will be a majority of four of the six members of the commission who are accustomed to working together, who are friends of long standing, and quite incidentally, are Republicans in their private persuasion. They are likely to work harmoniously with Gov. Knowles in pursuing such of his own objectives as he may have communicated to them.

THE POLITICS

The fact that the governor's nominees are identifiably Republicans is not entirely circumstantial.

The governor has a predilection for the selection of men he knows and trusts and who are likely to share his own outlook on public affairs, even as did his Democratic predecessors, and even as would any governor who is not wholly oblivious to the practical aspects of politics.

But the fact that these four men are Republicans by declaration and reputation is not as important as some appreciate.

Strictly Personal

Paranoid Projection Man's Worst Enemy

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Without a doubt, the most interesting play I saw during 10 days of theater-going in New York recently was the off-Broadway production of "A Slight Ache," by Harold Pinter, the gifted British playwright.

Harris

Harris

Not only was it beautifully written and impeccably acted, but the theme itself illustrates a deep and universal tendency in human relations. It takes an ordinary situation and projects it to the very brink of our unconscious fears and needs, and the fantasies they instill in us.

Space does not permit telling the whole story. Suffice to say, for present purposes, it concerns a husband and wife who invited a ragged match-seller into their country house to find out more about him and why he has stood motionless near their rear gate for many days.

First the husband speaks to him at great length, and then the wife. The match-seller never says a word throughout the whole play; he simply stands there, hunched over, holding his tray, and we do not know whether he can even hear what they are saying to him. He seems to have suffered a stroke, and scarcely moves at all, like some wounded animal.

The husband, who, at the play's beginning seems prissy and smug and supremely selfhensive if earnest persons involved in conservation seem to believe. Nor was there any proof during the last six years when the commission had some members who were Democrats that the fact was especially relevant. The occasions when the Republican commissioners and the Democratic commissioners had any serious disputes or divisions on policy or program were so few as to be negligible.

The point may very well be illustrated in July when the commission under the law reorganizes and chooses its officers. There will be four men voting who are identified as Republicans if only because of their selection by Republican administrations of today and of former times. There will be two others who were chosen by former Gov. Gaylord Nelson, a Democrat. They are Jack Schumacher of Shawano and James Smaby of La Crosse. The chances are excellent that Commissioner Smaby, in spite of his nominal association with a former Democratic administration, will be named chairman to succeed Commissioner Rahr, as a token of respect for his seniority, experience, and the affectionate regard of his colleagues.

THE NEWMAN

The five men of the commission appointed by Nelson or recently renamed by Knowles are fairly well known in conservation circles because of their previous service in the conservation administration. Somebody has suggested that comparatively little is yet known about Commissioner Tyler, the new man recruited by the present governor.

He is a man of late middle age who is one of the best known civic leaders in northwestern Wisconsin, a former county officer of Price County with considerable public affairs experience, an energetic promoter of natural resource conservation causes in the upper Wisconsin district, and a man who has had a considerable success in private business. Mr. Tyler has informed this department that he is no longer an owner of the bank which he directed in recent years and that therefore he will have ample time to devote to the considerable responsibilities of new and unsalaried state office.

confident, slowly turns fearful in the man's presence. He imagines him to be a spy, or someone seeking vengeance for an evil deed that the husband committed long ago.

The wife, who, at the play's beginning seems blandly passive and conventional, slowly turns amorous in the man's presence. She overlooks his foul odor, his repulsive rags, his utter unresponsiveness, and caresses him as the answer to her unspoken prayers for romantic relief from her grim marriage.

Here, Pinter is merely pushing to a menacing extreme the kind of behavior we all indulge in, only we usually do it more prudently and less dramatically. We project our own feelings into others; we reshape them, as it were, into an image that has pre-existed in our own minds; we use them as sounding-boards for our most deep-seated fears and frustrations and infantile hopes.

We do not see the Other as a "Thou" in Buber's terms; we see him or her as an "It"—as an object, as an instrument, as a projection of what we would like the world to become or what we are afraid it might be. The Other is not a true person, in his own right, but a Thing, like the blind, deaf, paralyzed match-seller, who becomes Retribution to the husband and Romance to the wife.

This paranoid projection, which everyone engages in to some degree, is perhaps mankind's most persistent and implacable enemy, both on the personal and on the social scale. For we do it not only with individuals, but also with classes, races, nations, and sexes. We turn a Someone into a Something, and then wonder why we cannot live together happily.

Congressmen, Freeman Differ On Farm Proposal Prospects

Administration Policy Analyzed By Farm Editors in Washington

BY RAY PAGEL
Post Crescent News Service
WASHINGTON — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and Congressmen expressed differing views on prospects for farm policy when interviewed by the Newspaper Farm Editors of America this week.

Sen. George S. McGovern, South Dakota Democrat, said the outlook was "bright", but Rep. Paul Findley, Illinois Republican, said change chances were "grim".

Freeman too was pessimistic. "The people who should care," he complained, "don't seem to give a darn."

a growing awareness of the relationship of low farm income to their own economic situation," McGovern remarked.

Findley, taking his turn in the U.S. Department of Agriculture conference room, declared "What Lyndon Wants Lyndon gets — that's the hit tune on Capitol Hill. The outlook is indeed grim."

He said the government would franchise the right to grow under the Democratic proposals. All indications are that farmers want less government not more," Rep. Findley asserted. Under the wheat program, he continued, consumers would have to pay more for their bread.

This would be the most regressive tax in all history, because it would hit low-income people for whom bread is an important part of the daily diet. What a curious way to start a war on poverty."

Sen. McGovern said he didn't think an extra cent for a loaf of bread would be excessive.

As for the allotment provisions, McGovern remarked, farmers wouldn't have to sign up — it would be voluntary. Sure, Findley replied, but it would be set up in such a way that the farmers would be penalized by holding out.

Valid Approach

Findley suggested. The only valid approach is to get back to where farmers are producing for the market instead of government bins," he stated. He said he also favored a land retirement program rather than

Cold, Wet Weather Hurts Farming in State, Valley

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post Crescent Staff Writer

Cold and wet has set spring crops a week to 10 days behind schedule in the Fox Valley region, according to reports from county agricultural agents. All cited the lack of warm drying weather has kept farmers off the land and is the main cause for the delay. The extent of delay and damage may not be known for another 10 days, they indicated.

Conditions were reaffirmed this week by the state crop and weather report from Madison.

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin farm field work is 15 days behind normal in the north and a week to 10 days late in the south, the weekly crop and weather report noted today.

In most areas wet fields can not support tractors. In the north, manure has piled up in barnyards because spreaders cannot be hauled onto intended crop acres.

"Practically no spring plowing has been done except on a few favored sites," the summary said.

A year ago at this time more than one-fourth of the intended acreage in Wisconsin had been spring plowed and more than one-third of the oats were in, the report added.

A few warm, driving days would give farmers the kind of conditions they need to swing into action.

Here is an area county by county report by the agents:

Outagamie County

In Outagamie County, Agricultural Agent Russell Luckow advised farmers to "check their fields closely in the next week or two to see if they have been damaged by winter kill."

"Grain planting is 10 days to two weeks later than usual," said Luckow. "About 75 percent of the oat crop is usually planted by the first week in May and corn by May 10, but we will need a lot of warm

DHIA District Conferences Scheduled

Ways to help dairymen make better use of Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) records will be discussed at six DHIA district conferences for fieldmen scheduled during May.

Conferences will be held May 10 in Shawano at the Shawano Court House, May 11 in Chilton at the Hotel Chilton, May 12 in Fort Atkinson at the Blackhawk Hotel, May 17 in Richland Center at Louie's Grill, May 18 in Black River Falls at Arnie's Club 12, and May 19 in Barron at the Barron Court House.

The workshop and discussion sessions will explore changes and use of a new DHIA sire summary, methods of obtaining uniform procedures among all DHIA fieldmen in dealing with problems, cattle identification systems, feed additives, farm routing problems and member relations.

Of special interest will be a session on the handling, maintenance and care of Milk-O-Meters with special emphasis on instrument accuracy. Results of the DHIA membership drive will be discussed, and awards presented to those fieldmen in each of the associations that have met or surpassed membership quotas.

Clarence Olson and Gene Starkey, University of Wisconsin dairy specialists, will lead discussions at the conferences. Willys Gjermundson or Russell Prell of the Agricultural Records Cooperative in Madison, will also be present at the meetings.

Guernseys End Production Tests

Three registered Guernsey cows in the herd of Warren J. Moon, Oshkosh, have recently completed top official production records, according to The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

All were milked twice daily. The testing was supervised by University of Wisconsin.

Golden Orange Queenoma, a six-year-old, produced 11,500 pounds of milk and 530 pounds of fat, in 305 days. Moonlane Ideal Starlet, a Senior two-year-old, produced 11,210 pounds of milk and 582 pounds of fat, in 305 days, and Moonlane Owen Janice, a Junior two-year-old, produced 9,550 pounds of milk and 417 pounds of fat, in 305 days.

Seymour 4-H Dramatists Are Honored

SEYMOUR — Leaders behind the successful Woodlawn Hustler 4-H Club's blue-ribbon drama efforts in past years are attending a Drama Directors and Actor's Workshop through Saturday at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Mrs. Walter Jurgens, club leader, and Sally Tubbs, a member and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tubbs, joined a group of three adult leaders and 10 club members from the state, according to Outagamie County Club Agent Courtney Schwertz.

Both have been active in the club for the past five years and have worked with club plays entered in county and district drama festivals. Their play this year won blue ribbons at both festivals and two years ago their drama was selected for the state festival which has since been discontinued.

At Madison they attended play rehearsals, viewed an international film classic, toured the Wisconsin Idea Theatre and attended workshops on acting, body and stage movement, costumes and stage makeup.

CCC Camp Pioneered Soil Conservation

By BRUNO ZUCOLLO
Calumet Soil Conservationist

Among the first Civilian Conservation Corps Camps set up in the nation were those in southeastern Wisconsin. These camps, run jointly by the U. S. Army and the Soil Erosion Service, were the forerunner of the state's Soil Conservation Service.

The army fed and clothed the men and the services planned and supervised the work crews. To veterans in soil conservation work in Wisconsin, such names as Coon Valley, Viroqua, Gays Mills, Platteville, brings back a nostalgia.

It was here that the pioneer work in strip cropping, terracing, erosion control structures was first started in the state, as well as in the nation. A drive, now, through southwestern Wisconsin demonstrates how popular these practices have become. This area is now known as the "Soil Conservation Showcase" of the United States.

Basic Training

In the 1930s all of the present-day conservationists in Wisconsin took their "basic training"

On April 27, 1935, Congress created a permanent agency for SCS to help local watershed groups plan and carry out upstream watershed protection and improvement projects. In 1958 this law was to include cost sharing for fish and wildlife in

The law provided that existing facilities be used in forming the new service, so the acting Secretary of Agriculture ordered that the Soil Erosion Service, which had been set up in 1933 as a temporary agency of the Department of Interior, become the Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

Program Milestones

Congress ordered the Secretary of War and Agriculture to set out on a national program of flood control in 1936.

The President in 1937 submitted to the governors of the states a standard soil conservation districts law. By mid-summer of 1945, all 48 states had passed district laws. SCS furnished technical help to landowners and operators cooperating with these districts. Congress authorized SCS to proceed with flood prevention work on 11 watersheds covering 15 million acres in 12 states in 1944.

In 1952 the Secretary of Agriculture placed responsibility for all soil survey work in the SCS. The next year the agency was assigned Department of Agriculture flood prevention and river basin investigations. It took on the job of combined soil conservation and flood control there will be 7,000 of those on work in 50 small watersheds to serve as pilot projects.

By 1954 Congress enacted the Watershed Protection and Flood

Prevention Act which authorized SCS to help local watershed groups plan and carry out upstream watershed protection and improvement projects. In 1958 this law was to include cost sharing for fish and wildlife in

Number of Cattle, Calves on Feed Up in Wisconsin

Cattle and calves on feed in Wisconsin at April 1 were moderately above the year earlier level.

The number on feed totaled 133,000 head, 11 per cent above last year and the highest for the date in seven years of record. Marketings of fed cattle for slaughter market during January-March amounted to 40,000 head, 3 per cent above the same quarter a year ago.

Placements of cattle and calves on grain-feed for market by Wisconsin farmers increased sharply during the past quarter (January-March 1965) compared to the comparable period a year earlier. The 36,000 head placed on grain feed was more than one-half again as many as the number put on feed in January through March, 1964.

If Wisconsin farmers carry out their intended marketings, there will be 7,000 of those on feed April 1 going to slaughter market during the next quarter (April-June), 6 per cent above a year ago.

25 Girls From Fox Valley Region Seek 'Alice' Crown

Twenty-five girls from Fox Valley region counties have indicated their intentions to enter the 1965 Alice in Dairy-St. Shawano, Carol Birkholz and Barbara Tuma, both of land contest.

The girls will be competing in three regional contests, and hail from five counties, Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Calumet and Shawano.

The first contest will be for region 8 on May 8 at Antigo. The Sturgeon Bay region 7 event will be May 22. Region 6 contestants will vie at Omro on May 15. Finals will be at Sun Prairie June 24-26.

Participating in region 6 will be Donna M. Lathrop, and Connie M. Kussman, both of Marion, Jillane S. Schultz, Hope Chapin and Judy L. Bliven, all of Oshkosh; Kay Koehn, Barbara Grant, Connie Fruend, Judie Whitemarsh, Carla Karst, Ally Schmeltgen, all of Omro, Claudia Hoier, route 2, New London, Laurie Haavstad, Iola, and Fay Dobbe and Susan Christensen, both of Larsen.

Only six are entered from the area in region six, four of them from Calumet County and the balance from Outagamie.

They are Barbara Plate, route 1, Brillion; Diane Ellis, route 1, Black Creek, Lana Nimmer, route 1, Kiel, Barbara J. Van Heuklon, route 1, Appleton, and Susan Wettstein, route 1, Chilton.

such projects.

Great Plains Conservation program was authorized in 1956. By 1962 changes in the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act authorized locally sponsored resource conservation and development projects. The conservation and land use programs encourage new economic developments in certain areas. Ten of these projects have been undertaken, one in Wisconsin. Also in 1962 the secretary assigned leadership to SCS in cooperation with other agencies and groups relating to income producing recreation.

The budget bureau has proposed to cut $20 million from the SCS budget on "conservation operations," which is the technical service.

The bureau suggests that a "users fee" be used to compensate for this. This means that individual landowners be charged directly for technical services or that a county make a contribution to the treasury to compensate for these services. The budget bureau also would drastically reduce the ACP budget (used for cost sharing of conservation practices) from $250 million to $100 million.

eyes alive up to 22 hours.

This was reported Thursday at the opening of a three-day meeting of the American Academy of Neurology.

Dr. Javier Verdura said the brains, mounted on an artificial frame, were supplied with blood by a miniature mechanical system using either a live monkey donor or a special heart-lung machine.

He said activity of the isolated brains was monitored by an electroencephalograph and by metabolism tests of its use of oxygen, carbon dioxide and sugar.

Dr. Verdura said the isolated brains lived longest when on the monkey donor circuit, but that they could live up to seven hours on a completely mechanical support system.

"We believe that it will make possible for the first time the study of brain function in a totally isolated brain," he said.

Frost Gone From Agriculture Areas

In the main agricultural areas of the state frost was largely out of the ground by April 16, according to funeral directors and cemetery caretakers, reporting to the Wisconsin Statistical Service.

Most of the frost remaining to any substantial depth is in the general area from Wausau westward in a narrow band, perhaps 50 miles wide. Northern counties are almost free of frost except where occasional snow patches have kept it in.

In much of the state melting snow has soaked in well. Areas that were pretty dry last fall are now moist for one to two feet or more. Only in the west central and in the south east has there been large areas of excessive run-off, and even there soaking in has been good. In southern counties generally, soil is moist down to 4 to 5 feet. Along the lakeshore in the east, soil moisture sometimes is less than this, but in the rest of the state it is deeper.

"Speaking of Country Life"!

When farmers talk about country life, they mean the life of the plow and the field, of poultry and of livestock, of grain and dairy products. And they also mean that informative tabloid that brings them news of 4-H activities, county fairs and demonstrations, FHA meetings, of conservation programs, of county agent services . . . in short, they mean "COUNTRY LIFE" with exclusive news and features for the farmer.

THE POST - CRESCENT

Spring Work Delayed By Adverse Weather

The county has a lot of lowlands, heavy soil and poor drainage, Peroutky explained. "We expect more corn and soybeans to be planted this season to replace the oats."

"It is too early to pass judgement on the hay crop. The old alfalfa fields that were fertilized with potash last season will do well," said the agent.

Peroutky said he checked an alfalfa crown and it had green edges. New seedlings look better, he said, because they are closer to last year's fertilizer.

Winnebago fields are still very "sticky," Peroutky said.

Waupaca County Agent Joe Walker said this week. "The same situation exists here. We have very little oats in although some has been planted in areas where lighter soil allowed the farmers to get on the land."

"Alfalfa is starting to green a little bit in the crowns although it was held back by the cold. Some early potatoes have been put in the fields in the Waupaca, New London and Readfield areas, but little has developed at this point."

"In 1962 some farmers planted their oats after the corn crop was in so we're not as bad off as then," he continued. "We can't detect much on the hay seedlings unless we get warm weather in the next 10 days."

"The open winter and ice sheet this winter may have done some damage, but it is too early to tell. This is just one we'll have to wait on," said Walker.

Calumet County Agent Orrin Meyer said Thursday's warm winds were helping to dry out the land in Calumet and some farmers were getting on the sandy soil in the New Holstein-Kiel area.

"The season is about two weeks behind schedule. Planting oats may start by the weekend if the weather continues. "Hilbert and Brillion areas will be later because it will take longer for their black, mucky soil to dry out."

"The season is similar to the cool, wet conditions of 1960. The better mechanized farms will be able to compensate for the delay. Much, however, depends on the individual farmer and his type of operation."

Calumet usually suffers from dry soil conditions, Meyer said, so farmers are less concerned about the present wet situation.

SHERWOOD—Lloyd Habermann, Brillion, Sixth District American Legion vice commander, and organizer of the first Calumet County Youth Government Day, reported on the government day event held in Chilton, when the Calumet American Legion Council met in Darboy Thursday. The group sponsors the civic affair.

Habermann suggested that next year the event be held a month earlier to get away from the county board's annual organizational meeting. This way, he said the students could see the legislative business conducted at a board session.

The council voted not to meet during May, but to hold election and installation of officers June

Schuman Says Policy Step To Socialized Agriculture

"Agriculture is still very important. At least one-third of the people of the United States are involved in agriculture," Shuman declared.

Full Accord On one current governmental proposal Shuman is in full accord. He said attempts to institute vocational retraining programs for displaced farmers makes a lot of sense.

Two career men in the Department of Agriculture explained details of the farm bill. Hours later they were "kicked upstairs" by President Johnson. The pair included Charles S. Murphy, 63, who was shifted out of agriculture to become chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and John A. Schnittker, 40, who took Murphy's place as Under Secretary of Agriculture. Schnittker has been director of Agricultural Economics for the USDA.

Additional Subsidy He insisted that the president's new proposals would be more attention paid to grant additional subsidy to small and inefficient producers and that the larger and more efficient producers would be penalized.

Tailored Programs Schnittker indicated there will be more attention paid to tailored programs, with different commodities because of different situations.

"From price support levels generally above world market levels we expect to move toward supports which are competitive. At the same time we will have a system of direct payments, certificates and other means to assure farmers a fair return on their investment," Schnittker stated.

President Recorded Blend of Disappointments and Triumphs

By FRANK CORMIER

EDITOR'S NOTE — President Johnson completes today the first 100 days of the four-year term to which he was overwhelmingly elected last November. In this article, AP White House reporter Frank Cormier reviews the 100-day period. He looks at some of Johnson's triumphs and disappointments and how his changing fortunes are affecting the President himself.

held any direct and sharp response but, personally and through members of the Cabinet, has tried to deal indirectly with many of the points raised by local dissidents. If the global outlook has been sharply altered in 100 days, there have been less dramatic changes in the appearance and actions of the 57-year-old President himself.

Working Hard

The human whirlwind of 1964 is working as hard as ever — perhaps harder — but the pace may be taking a toll.

More often than before, Johnson has looked tired in recent months. Those who see him in frequently have noticed it most. Very recently, however, he has seemed more like his old self.

Johnson says he feels fine, has lost weight — which pleases his doctors — and is doing his best to find time for regular exercise and an afternoon nap.

Walking currently is his favorite exercise. He abandoned the heated White House swimming pool, at least temporarily, after his January flu attack.

The doctors have testified that the President's health remains excellent. But they have urged him to allot more time for relaxation — something he seems to do best at his Texas ranch.

Johnson made a slow comeback after his brief hospitalization. He seemed hoarse and listless for several weeks. But he has shown signs recently of regaining the vitality that seemed so abundant last year.

Physical Changes

Of course, any changes in paid dividends. The Democratic 168,000 new residents a year — Johnson's physical appearance may be no more than a transitory reflection of the pressures major bills have become law confronting him as he seeks a solution to the Viet Nam problem.

Biggest Victory

Some changes in Johnson's pattern of behavior certainly mirror his preoccupation with the war there and his personal bill. Sitting in the shade of the involvement in promoting his one-room school of his childhood legislative program.

—Formal speaking engagements outside Washington have approached the vanishing point. There have been only three in 100 days and two of these dealt with Viet Nam.

Johnsonian secrecy about travel plans has become more pronounced. Most of his recent weekend trips to Texas weren't announced until the moment of departure. The apparent reaction of a development in Viet Nam should force him to remain at the White House, he wants to be able to keep the fact secret lest an air of crisis develop.

Some Effect

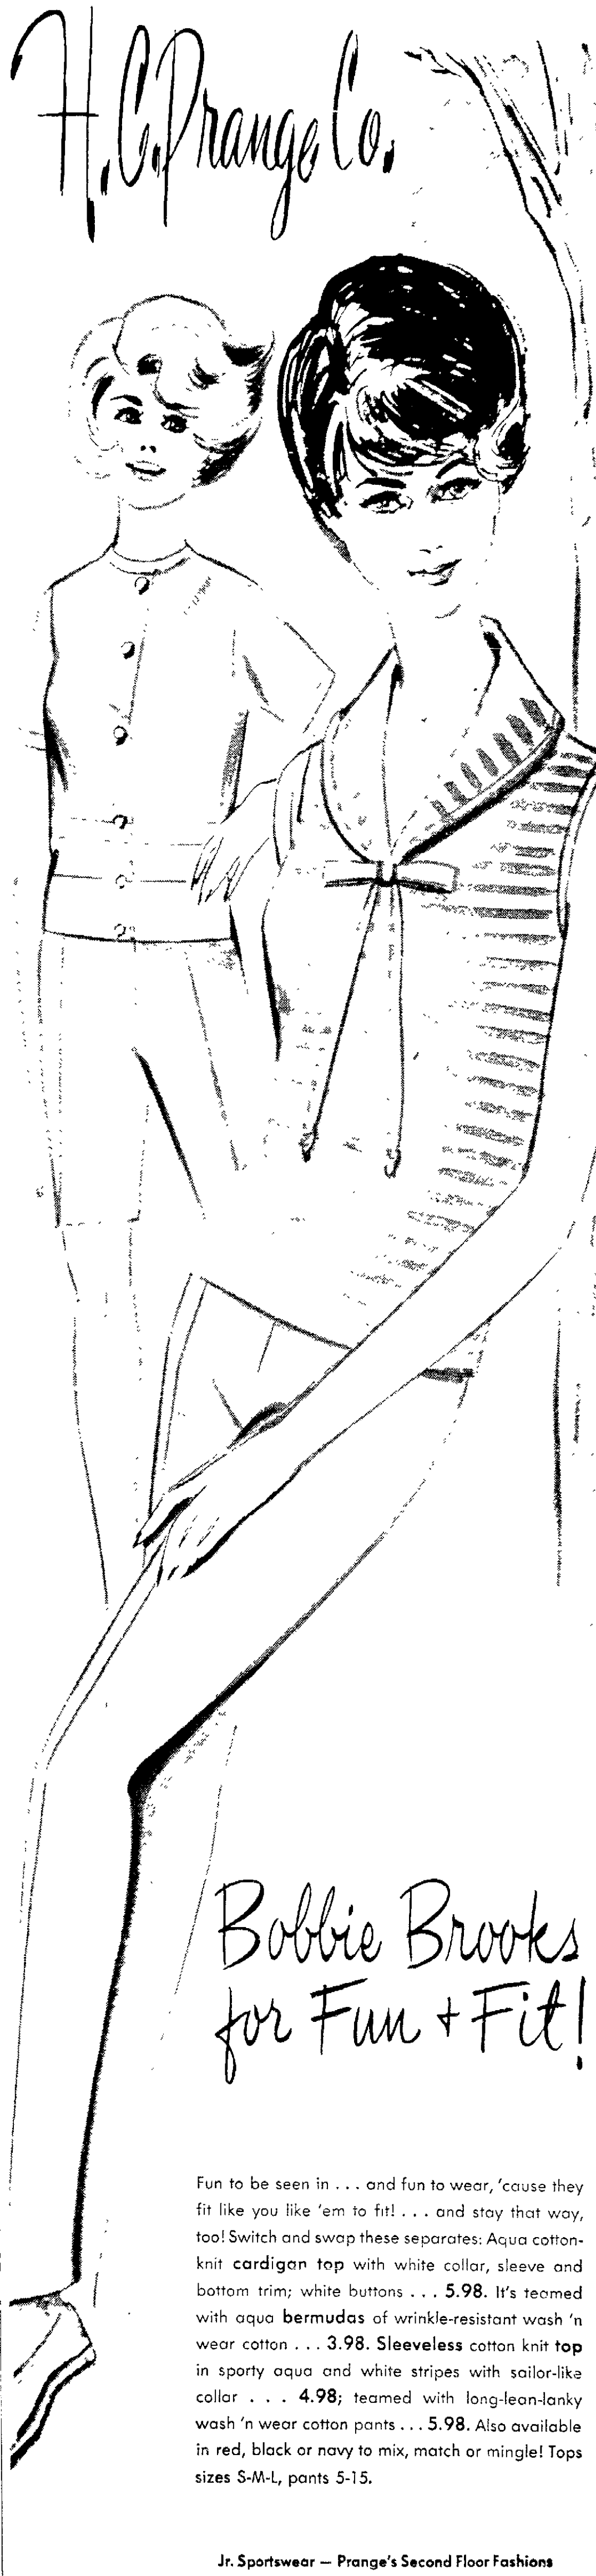

Last November's election apparently has had some effect on Johnson's actions, too. Since then his formal news conferences have been less frequent and there has been considerable talk of deteriorating press relations. Presumably the cutback in out-of-town speeches also owes something to the fact that there is no national election this year.

Earlier this week, Johnson said he hopes to do more traveling and talking in the last half of the year — if Congress completes its work. Whenever key congressional votes are pending, however, Johnson prefers to be in Washington to oversee the administration's lobbying efforts.

These efforts already have square miles. The Democratic 168,000 new residents a year — week that, since January, six Atlantic City.

Silver Medal Holstein Sires Are Designated

2 of State's 15
High Producers in Fox Valley Region

Two of the 15 state Holstein and bulls designated silver medal production sires by the Holstein-Freisian Association of America
come from Fox Valley region herds.

They are: Lane Re-Charity
Dean Walker, owned by Badger
Breeders Cooperative, Shawano.
His 13 daughters averaged 15,300 pounds of milk and 553 pounds of fat.

Wis. Captain Follow On, owned by Earl Hughes, Neenah, had 10 daughters averaging $17,056 pounds of milk and 623 pounds of fat.

The award is based on the production of a bull's registered daughters on official test as compared with that of their dams and with the production level of the entire Holstein breed.

15 Records

At least 10 pairs of daughters and dams must figure in the comparisons with the daughters having a total of at least 15 official production records in the advanced registry, herd improvement registry or dairy herd improvement registry testing programs.

All are official breed improvement programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America and are supervised by the state agricultural colleges.

To facilitate comparisons, all records of both daughters and dams are converted to the commonly accepted two-milkings-a-day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis used in sire recognition programs.

Many Latins Critical of U. S. Landings predicted that the public reaction in Latin America would be bad. Some said the affair would help Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

One diplomat said the reaction would be "very angry and bitter." Another noted that the U.S. Marines "have a very bad connotation" in Latin America. "It's back to 1916 again," one diplomat said, citing the year U.S. Marines began an eight-year occupation of the Dominican Republic with the avowed purpose of protecting U.S. interests.

Some said the Americans in the Dominican Republic had not been harmed and could have been saved without U.S. troops. From the Communist camp came the expected condemnations.

The Cuban Communist party newspaper Hoy said the landing of the Marines was "cynical, shameless and monstrous."

The Peking People's Daily, organ of the Chinese Communist party, said: "The day will surely come when the U.S. chain that binds Latin America will be broken and all forces of U.S. imperialism cleared from the continent."

Red China's New China News Agency said "the new intervention came at a moment when U.S. imperialism was wildly extending its war of aggression in Viet Nam" and "threw further light on its hideous feature as the international gendarme."

The official Soviet News agency Tass charged the United States with grossly interfering in the internal affairs of the Dominican Republic. Tass said the explanation that the landing was to ensure the security of American citizens was a "threadbare pretext."

Name Doyle to District Bench

$30,000 a year, lifetime assignment.

The nomination was hailed by Democratic figures, including former Gov. John W. Reynolds, who sought the post, and David Rabinovitz, who served as the court's judge for 10 months under an interim appointment by President Johnson before he was required to give it up.

The nomination will be sent for confirmation to the Senate, where it will be referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Reynolds offered his "heartiest congratulations," to Doyle and said "he will make a brilliant judge."

There was a report that Reynolds would get the next vacant federal judgeship, which would be in the eastern Wisconsin U.S. District Court where Judge Kenneth P. Grubb will reach mandatory retirement age in September.

Born in Oshkosh, Doyle was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1937 and received his law degree from Columbia three years later. He served in the Navy during World War II and also as U. S. attorney in Wisconsin's western district from 1946 through 1948 when he entered private law practice.

He was state Democratic chairman from 1951 to 1953, and was national co-chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action in 1953 and 1954. Doyle also held various posts in the federal government, and served as a law clerk to James F. Byrnes when he was on the Supreme Court in 1941-42.

Doyle and his wife have one son and three daughters.

34 Buddhist Monks Arrested in Burma

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's revolutionary government has arrested another 34 Buddhist monks accused of anti-government activities, the official paper Working People's Daily said today.

The paper said the monks and five civilians were arrested Thursday at Pakokku, 300 miles north of Rangoon.

The government, in the face of increasing unrest among young Buddhists, earlier this week arrested more than 80 monks in raids across the country.

Unrest mounted following an attempt by senior Buddhist prelates — with strong government backing — to institute reforms in the clergy

Bombers Score Major Success

After the initial assaults Wednesday, government troops claimed 86 Viet Cong bodies were found and that more than 70 other Communist troops had been killed by machine-gun fire from American helicopters.

American military sources called the operation one of the best run in recent months.

At Phu Hiep, a Special Forces outpost 100 miles west of Saigon on the Cambodian frontier, a battalion of Viet Cong launched a mortar attack shortly after midnight and reached the barbed wire outer perimeter before they were driven back. Sixteen government troops were killed, 14 were wounded and three were missing.

A spokesman said Viet Cong casualties were not known, but villagers said 70 to 80 Viet Cong bodies were carried off after the battle.

He said President Johnson telephoned his sympathy and an offer of help. Alaska's Gov. William Egan also called and offered aid.

In many cases, emergency surgery was performed without anesthetics. The city was largely without electricity or water.

American reinforcements poured in by sea and air. Some 1,200 Marines came ashore Thursday from Navy ships offshore, joining 500 others who had landed Wednesday to begin the evacuation of American citizens and other refugees.

Arrest Police Chief For Nazi Activities

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — The mayor of this south German city suspended his chief of security police Thursday night after he was arrested on suspicion of having killed seven persons during the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union.

A spokesman for the city government said Oskar Josef Christ, 53, was being questioned by the state attorney's office.

The Central Agency for the Investigation of Nazi Crimes said Christ is believed to have killed seven Soviet Jews during the 1941-42 campaign. He was then chief of a Nazi police battalion.

Christ became chief of police of Wiesbaden, the headquarters for the 7th U.S. Air Force, in 1955.

Rasmussen said death and destruction from this quake would be lighter however, because the tremor started an estimated 30 miles below the surface of the ground.

The epicenter was pinpointed in the vicinity of Dabob Bay on Hood Canal about 30 miles west-northwest of Seattle.

British Columbia

The quake rumbled through British Columbia where buildings swayed and windows rattled on coastal Vancouver Island and 300 miles inland at Trail. It was felt in northern Idaho, western Montana and Oregon, but no injuries or damage were reported in those states.

Three rolling shock waves, lasting nearly a minute, tore loose bricks, veneer walls in the older parts of Seattle and Tacoma. Both railroad stations in Seattle were damaged and huge chunks of concrete fell from the roof of the Union Pacific Railway Depot in Tacoma.

No major damage was reported at the Giant Boeing Co. but glass and plaster was broken in some buildings and the men working in were sent home for the day.

Capitol Evacuated

OLYMPIA, Gov. Dan Evans, a civil engineer, ordered the Capitol building evacuated. The 287-foot tall Capitol dome that rises above the legislative chambers was cracked and daylight could be seen through the wall in one place.

High up in the rotunda columns had been sheared off at the base and the five-ton chandelier that dangles at the end of a 110-foot chain turned in a small orbit for more than an hour.

Panes in the skylight clattered down on desks of the legislators whose morning sessions had not yet begun. Legislators, in session for a record 106 days, went home until Monday.

"Pretty lucky," Evans said. "If it had been another 30 seconds at that intensity it would have been much worse."

He said President Johnson telephoned his sympathy and an offer of help. Alaska's Gov. William Egan also called and offered aid.

Ironically, the State Civil Defense Department had planned an earthquake drill next week.

ceiving large numbers of persons, including women and children, with gunshot and shrapnel wounds. A majority of the victims were from the Ciudad Nueva (New City) area, a low income housing project which has been the center of rebel activity.

In many cases, emergency surgery was performed without anesthetics. The city was largely without electricity or water.

American reinforcements poured in by sea and air. Some 1,200 Marines came ashore Thursday from Navy ships offshore, joining 500 others who had landed Wednesday to begin the evacuation of American citizens and other refugees.

Shortly after midnight two battalions of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N.C. — 2,500 men — began landing at the San Isidro base 20 miles from Santo Domingo. The base is the headquarters of the forces trying to quell the rebellion.

Arrest Police Chief For Nazi Activities

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — The mayor of this south German city suspended his chief of security police Thursday night after he was arrested on suspicion of having killed seven persons during the Nazi invasion of the Soviet Union.

A spokesman for the city government said Oskar Josef Christ, 53, was being questioned by the state attorney's office.

The Central Agency for the Investigation of Nazi Crimes said Christ is believed to have killed seven Soviet Jews during the 1941-42 campaign. He was then chief of a Nazi police battalion.

Christ became chief of police of Wiesbaden, the headquarters for the 7th U.S. Air Force, in 1955.

Rasmussen said death and destruction from this quake would be lighter however, because the tremor started an estimated 30 miles below the surface of the ground.

The epicenter was pinpointed in the vicinity of Dabob Bay on Hood Canal about 30 miles west-northwest of Seattle.

British Columbia

The quake rumbled through British Columbia where buildings swayed and windows rattled on coastal Vancouver Island and 300 miles inland at Trail. It was felt in northern Idaho, western Montana and Oregon, but no injuries or damage were reported in those states.

Three rolling shock waves, lasting nearly a minute, tore loose bricks, veneer walls in the older parts of Seattle and Tacoma. Both railroad stations in Seattle were damaged and huge chunks of concrete fell from the roof of the Union Pacific Railway Depot in Tacoma.

No major damage was reported at the Giant Boeing Co. but glass and plaster was broken in some buildings and the men working in were sent home for the day.

Barbra Streisand Gives Flashy TV Performance

Young Singing Sensation Presents 25 Songs in One-Woman Show of Talents

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY — which she sang, by actual count, 25 songs, engaged in an outrageous hour-long spoof of the high fashion introduction Wednesday night to business and even tried a cosy comedy monologue. Barbra Streisand, at 23 the star of a Broadway hit, "My Name is Barbra," is serious to silly — a blonde tragic demonstration of her talents, in "People", a five-year-old in pig-tails lisping children's songs, a brunette comedienne trying on funny hats and dancing casually on a milk coat.

She has an exciting voice, a highly individual style, interesting looks and a glossy sophistication of style that may be a little hard to take by music conservatives who prefer "Lover Come Back to Me" sung as Sig-mund Romberg wrote it. The sleek production of the program was reminiscent of that which surrounded Judy Garland in her earlier specials. But in spite of everything, the hour seemed a little long. ABC's "King Family" hour will continue through the summer with new programs, only to be chopped in half when the fall season starts in September. There was a vast outpouring of sympathy notes recently when the senior member of the clan, William King Driggs, died at 79.

Driggs, a veteran vaudevil-lin, was the father of the six sis- ters and two brothers who are the parents of all the youthful Kings. His role on the program, however, cannot be filled. The only King relatives who are not on the program now are Mrs. Driggs, his widow, who is a semi-invalid, and two young King cousins, both out of the country. ABC, which has had a dismal experience trying to launch a late evening show to compete with NBC's Johnny Carson, in- tends to keep right on trying.

Competition for the "Tonight Show" audiences and sponsors is not the sole reason for the program. Edgar Sherick, ABC vice president referred to "the diminishing reserves of avail- able motion pictures," once the staple of late evening program- ming. Next season, there will be eight hours a week of prime evening network time devoted to movies some of them of fairly recent vintage.

CBS will pre-empt "Great Ad- venture" Friday night for a memorial program, on Edward R. Murrow, Eric Sever- eid and Charles Collingwood, former colleagues of the news- caster who died of cancer on Tuesday, will narrate the pro- gram. It will consist primarily of excerpts from his radio and television broadcasts.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 5) — An- other fine actor, George C. Scott, who hasn't been doing much television lately, turns in an admirable performance on Bob Hope Presents. He plays a submarine captain who is only too eager to turn in his torpedoes after he hears of Hiroshima. To him, the war is over. But not too many of his "Jap hating" crew who want to avenge the death of a mess- steward (Ernest Anderson).

(COLOR) 6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — International Showtime has a romantic, lush spectacular in "The Beautiful Budapest Ice Show," for folks who like their music lilting and their skating of the waltzing variety.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Great Adventure has a good portrait of the early years of Sam Houston, covering his days as an Indian agent, as governor of Tennessee and his fall from grace and power when he learns his wife does not love him. Repeat.

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — "I'll Cry at My Wedding" on Valen- tine's Day is a silly bit of nonsense involving a rather dubious plan to end Tony Franciosa's single days.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Accent is on comedy on The Jack Paar Program. Carl Reiner displays his fine crisp abilities as a stand-up comic. Other jesters on hand are Jackie Vernon, Avery Schreiber and Jack Burns.

(COLOR) 8-10 (Channel 2) — Slattery's People presents "Question: What's a requiem for a Loser?" with Martin Milner as an eager-beaver freshman legis- lator who wants to put an end to the electric chair in his state — an idea which has been turned down 11 times in 22 years. Repeat

This redesignation from the ground component of the Ma- rine Reserve to the air compo- nent will not involve any major changes in the unit's mission and presently scheduled engi- neer training will continue. Lawrence Says
Red Influence
Is Growing on
U. S. Campuses

Communists Are Important Factor
In Demonstrations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The communist influence on the campus in American universities and colleges has increased so substantially in recent months that it now has become an important factor in the organizing of student demonstrations.

The Communists have actually profited by the "free speech" doctrine which, through Su-parties which operate solely within this country without aid from abroad and those which have a direct connection with a foreign government.

Leaders of Negro organizations have repeatedly said that while there may be communist groups active in the racial controversy, they are not in any organized attempt by Foreign money to disrupt the University of America. He also has here indicates that the tactics and techniques of the communists are not always apparent even to Negro leaders, and that the real purpose of the communists is to force the demonstration into extremes so as either to provoke violence or to plunge the whole racial question into more and more bitter controversy.

More than a year ago, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, warned college presidents throughout the country of "an organized attempt by Foreign money to disrupt the University of America." He also has provided some avowed communists with "a platform from which to expose their godless ideology of chicanery, deceit and treachery."

Your Money's Worth

Executive Job-Finding
Becoming Big Racket

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"Thousands of executive positions are opening every day. If you desire a change, let us study your potential."

"A $10,000 to $75,000 yearly position could be a resume away."

These are typical of the lures being put before young executives by phony "executive counselors" who promise to find the salary. The "counseling" may be next to useless. In the words of one Chicago victim, "The psychological evaluation was a farce. The counseling amounted to bull sessions."

Here are basic guidelines to help guard you against the job-finding phony.

(1) The legitimate executive search firm works for a company—not a job-seeker. Such firms generally are open to job applicants, but policy is to charge the company, not the individual, if he is placed on a job. Says Don Wright, former president of the Assn. of Executive Recruiting Consultants, Inc., and a partner in the New York executive search firm of Antell, Wright & Nagel, "The executive recruiter can perform no service for the individual, although the individual can benefit by the coincidence of a job opening at the same time that he inquires about a position."

No Guarantee

(2) Legitimate executive counseling firms do accept fixed fees from individual clients—but they never will "guarantee" a job or accept any client they know they cannot assist.

(3) The legitimate employment agency also accepts fixed fees from clients—but unlike its illegitimate counterpart, it is licensed and regulated by the state.

You, as a job-seeker, have the right to ask questions about the qualifications and success record of any job counseling or job finding firm whose services you are considering.

And, of course, if you have any doubts at all, you should consult your Better Business Bureau.

The golf and social season of Riverview Country Club was opened Saturday evening with a dinner dance. "April in Paris" was the theme for the event. A 'left bank' artist in a smock and beret did chalk drawings as party-goers gathered around her. Committee members donned French berets and walls were decorated with posters and prints. Serving as co-chairmen for the event were Dr. and Mrs. Edward Zeiss and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seaborne Jr.

clear that West will defeat the contract if he can get his heart tricks. The only danger is that South may ruff hearts in the dummy. West should meet this threat by removing trumps from the dummy.

In some hands it is best to lead low from A-x-x of trumps. If partner wins the first defensive trick he will be able to return a trump, and then you can take the ace and lead a third trump. When partner is unlikely to win a trick, the best lead is the ace of trumps and then a low trump; this makes sure of getting two rounds of trumps out of the way as quickly as possible.

Either method will work in this case. West should lead the ace of trumps and a low trump. West thus makes sure of winning three heart tricks, enough to defeat the contract. (Copyright, 1965)

Don't Pick Lead From Sequence

When you study opening leads, you are told that the top card of a sequence is the ideal. This is like putting salt and pepper in your coffee because they go so well with most other foods. Fred Karpin, Washington D. C. expert, shows the foolishness of looking only for a sequence in the hand shown today.

second heart. He loses only two hearts and one trump, making his contract.

Bidding Is Clear

In choosing an opening lead, West must pick the suit first. Only then does he think about hearts and gives up a heart, the right card to lead from that West switches to the ace of suit. The fact that West has an trumps and a low trump, but it ideal holding in clubs is unimpeachable. South ruffs a heart dummy, gets back to draw suit to lead. The bidding should make it

Members of Wednesday Musicales who have seen the organization through most of its 50 years visited with Mrs. Karl Sager, right, chairman of the anniversary observance Wednesday. They are Mrs. R. M. Raschig, Miss Barbara Kamps and Mrs. Emil Voecks, a charter member. At right, are Mrs. Edwin Voigt, Mrs. Roy Davis, the former Eleanor Voecks who came from Pennsylvania for the occasion, Mrs. Andrew Parnell and Mrs. Roy M. Peeters.

Wednesday Musicales Marks Golden Year

In 1915 a group of musically talented women met at the home of Mrs. Emil Voecks to organize the Wednesday Musicales. Wednesday, 50 years after that first meeting, Mrs. Voecks, only surviving charter member, was guest of honor at an anniversary musicale and tea. The event was held at 2 p.m. at the Home Mutual Insurance Co. building.

Also honored at the program were two women who have been with the group almost since the beginning. They are Mrs. R. A. Raschig, a member for 49 years, and Miss Barbara Kamps, with 48 years. Also recognized were women with more than 25 years' membership. They are Mrs. Clarence Richter, 38 years; Mrs. Andrew Parnell, 32 years; Mrs. Raymond Peeters, 31 years, and Mrs. Edwin Voigt, 27 years.

Family Joins In
Helping pay tribute to Mrs. Voecks were members of her family. The charter member was aware that her daughter, Mrs. Roy Davis, Philadelphia, Pa., was going to be on hand, but she did not know that the program would list as solo violinist Mrs. Eleanor Voecks Davis, playing Schubert's "Sonatina No. 1. Another daughter, Mrs. E. Volkert, Middlebury, Vt., couldn't make the trip, but sent her mother a corsage. In view of the fact that the program was strictly for women, her sons, Robert and Fred Voecks, were represented by their wives.

All former members of the group were invited to the tea and program. As at any anniversary observance, conversation drifted back to other times and other programs. The aims, to increase knowledge of fine music by study and performance and to encourage participation in community musical organizations, were recalled.

Have to Restrict
Through the years membership has been limited to 25, although members realize this does not begin to include all the area musicians who would be eligible for membership.

Although not organized as a charitable club, Wednesday Musicales does participate in assisting community music projects. Many members have taken part in the program of "Petite Musicales" sponsored by the Appleton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Sponsors Juniors
The club also sponsors a Junior Music Club for young people from eighth through 12th grades. Auditions are held to determine eligibility and members have the experience of performing at their meetings. This is important experience for those who participate in solo and ensem-
